Extra track to cost $176 million

ConRail may cost more

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of two railroad companies to purchase 2,000 miles of track may force the taxpayers to supply another $176 million in funding for the government-backed ConRail system.

The U.S. Rail Association, the agency overseeing the reorganization of seven financially ailing Northeastern railroads, announced Thursday that the 2,000 miles of track it planned to sell to the Chessie System and Southern Railway will instead be included in ConRail.

That stretches ConRail routes to more than 17,000 miles and adds new rehabilitation and maintenance costs to the quasigovernment corporation.

But inclusion of the track also reduces the amount of competition ConRail will face in the Northeast and Midwest regions where it will operate and thereby increases the corporation's chances of making a profit, USRA said.

The last-minute switch in ConRail's route structure occurred because the Chessie and Southern were unable to work out labor agreements with employees of the rail lines they were to buy.

The purchase officially died at midnight Wednesday when the time limit given the carriers to make the arrangements expired.

The addition to 2,000 miles of track — 360 miles of which are unprofitable and must be subsidized by local-federal funds or abandoned — will increase the need for government funding of ConRail from $1.85 billion to $2.026 billion, USRA said.

Congress already has passed and President Ford has signed a bill authorizing a government investment of $1.85 billion, and establishing a $250 million contingency fund.

USRA noted the new price tag would mean only about $74 million would be left in the contingency fund to handle emergencies. USRA President James Hagen said the association was reviewing the margin of safety required for ConRail and would announce later if it needs more money.

USRA planned to sell most of the lines now owned by the Erie Lackawanna and Reading railroads to the Chessie for routes through Pennsylvania and into New York state. It planned to sell the Penn Central lines on the Delmarva peninsula — the land area that contains Delaware and parts of Maryland and Virginia — to Southern.

Although the new ConRail system will require more money initially, it has a better chance of making a profit quickly, said Hagen. He said USRA projections indicate the new system will lose $359 million in 1976 but will make a profit of $151 million in 1979.

Hagen said USRA still hopes to have ConRail operating by April 1, but admitted the last-minute route changes would require additional work to meet that date.

Although both USRA's major sale attempts fell through, 65 minor purchases of properties owned by the seven ailing carriers were made by solvent private carriers in the Northeast and Midwest.

The seven ailing railroads to be included in ConRail are the Penn Central, the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, the Lehigh and Hudson River and the Ann Arbor.

Sal Mineo slain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sal Mineo, known as "The Switchblade Kid" for his many film roles as a teenage tough, has been stabbed to death outside his Hollywood apartment house, authorities said.

Witnesses told police they heard screams and saw a man with long, blond hair running from the alley where Mineo was killed Thursday night.

Neighbors found the 37-year-old actor

lying face-up in a pool of blood about 20 feet from a parking area behind his apartment, police said. He had been stabbed in the chest.

Bill Jones, a neighbor in the moderately expensive apartments near the Sunset Strip, said, "We heard about three yells. The last yell was 'Help.' We rushed out and saw Sal lying face-up, breathing really hard."

"He was like in a daze, trying to breathe. He didn't say anything."

Another neighbor, Mary Chance, 21, said, "It was too quiet. Then all of a sudden those screams, we heard those screams."

Neighbors said Mineo was quiet and kept to himself.

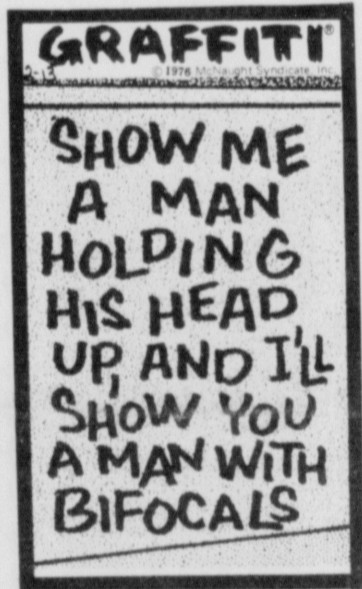

Authorities said the actor apparently lived alone and that his family resides in New York.

Mineo was in rehearsal for a starring role in "P.S. Your Cat Is Dead," a play scheduled to open next week at the Westwood Playhouse.

Recent television appearances by the baby-faced actor included roles in the Ellery Queen and Joe Forrester shows.

Highlights of his acting career included his portrayal of a juvenile delinquent along with James Dean in "Rebel Without A Cause" and later as an Israeli terrorist in "Exodus." Both performances won him Academy Award nominations.

As a delinquent in "Dino," he won a television Emmy in 1955.

In Moody's speech at dinner here

Stronger party recruitment eyed

By GEOFF MAVIS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

A brief, yet well-received speech by Columbus Mayor Tom Moody to a gathering of approximately 300 Fayette County Republican Club members highlighted the agenda of the 13th annual Lincoln Day dinner held Thursday night in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

In addition to Moody's speech, the dinner program featured the recognition of those incumbent office holders who will be seeking re-election in 1976, and other members of the party seeking election to certain county positions.

State Representative Bob McEwen presented Mrs. Catherine Hyer, retiring clerk of courts, with a resolution approved by the Ohio House of Representatives commemorating her for eight years of public service. Entertainment was provided by the South Side Church of Christ "Singing Teens." Carl Wilt served as master of ceremonies.

Moody centered his speech around the theme of Abraham Lincoln's ability to unite the populous, and how well today's Republicans are achieving this goal by recruiting new members to the party. Believing that stronger efforts should be made to seek the independent vote, he stated that, "We haven't gotten up off our seats and tried to reach them."

The 46-year-old Moody, who is in his second term as Columbus mayor, noted that even if individuals today may not possess the organizing abilities of a Lincoln, together as a group, state Republicans can achieve effective voter recruitment. Stressing that, "It is better to be right than in office," Moody added that if the Republican minority cares enough about the average constituent, then successful campaigns will follow.

Moody also praised the "depth and solidity" in the character of Fayette Countians, stating the fact that he became familiar with these qualities when working here in his youth. He and his wife, Jean, who was also present at the dinner, spent the second night of their honeymoon in the Washington C.H. area, said Moody, who was first elected to the Columbus mayor's post in 1971 after having served as a judge in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Robert Brubaker introduced 10 candidates, including seven incumbents seeking election in the June primaries. The incumbents pursuing re-election in Fayette County are county commissioners Ray Warner and J. Herbert Perrill, Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, engineer Charles P. Wagner, prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger, recorder Mrs. Lorie Armbrust, and coroner Dr. Ralph Gebhart.

Republican Party members running for particular offices included Donald E. Conley for the county engineer position, Mrs. Anna Lois Marvin for clerk of courts, and Mrs. Jean Palmer for treasurer.

The "Singing Teens" presented a program featuring the recitation of quotes by famous Americans, a musical rendition of the Gettysburg Address, and "God Bless America," interpreted by signing for the deaf. The presentation was backed up by a slide show of famous U.S. landmarks.

Previous to the closing ceremonies, Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, director of the Fayette County Board of Elections, explained procedures required of those party members seeking positions on the central committee.

Mythical damage suit to be presented

Hi-Y mock trial slated Saturday

The Washington C.H. Senior High School Hi-Y Club will hold its annual mock civil trial Saturday in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

This year's case involves a $520,000 damage suit against the mythical White Plains Preparatory High School and school officials.

The Hi-Y Club, under the direction of advisors George Shoemaker and Jonathon Sauer, has arranged the mock lawsuit which will be contested by club attorneys, witnesses and decided by a student jury.

The purpose of the exercise is to expose Hi-Y club members and other interested students to the workings of the U.S. judicial system. More than 25 students are expected to participate and the public is invited to attend the trial.

Washington C.H. attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann will be assisting the students in the trials, which will be heard before Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The case involves a claim that damage resulted when the high school allegedly failed to instruct the plaintiff in certain basic skills. The plaintiff claims that at the end of his four-year course at the high school he discovered he could not read or write on a level equivalent to other students in his grade. The plaintiff claims negligence and is seeking approximately $520,000 in damages.

The plaintiff is represented by student attorneys John Walker and Daniel Rodgers. They will be counseled by Kiger, who regularly appears in Fayette County Common Pleas Court trials as Fayette County's prosecuting attorney.

Defense attorneys Timothy O'Flynn and Bryan Connell will contend that the school does not assume full responsibility for the plaintiff's knowledge, and that the plaintiff is unjustified in filing suit for damages. The defense attorneys will be counseled by Roszmann, who also regularly appears in Fayette County Common Pleas Court trials as assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney and Kiger's law partner.

Judge Coffman will preside over the case, and will be assisted by Fayette County Common Pleas Court bailiff R.B. (Bud) Tharp.

The case, which will be appealed to the Ohio Model Supreme Court in April, was written by the student attorneys and the proper pre-trial legal documents have been filed with Judge Coffman. White Plains Preparatory High School is an imaginary private school in Fayette County. A student jury will determine the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded.

The judiciary program was launched several years ago by Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill.

Candidates' personal finances bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he will release some more information about his finances after President Ford issued a financial report putting his family's net worth at $329,489.

Reagan's new report could confirm what public records and other sources already show: Reagan is a millionaire and one of the wealthiest candidates this year.

After Ford made public his financial statement Thursday, Reagan said he would "have some additional information" to bring up to date the limited financial report he filed in February 1975 as required by California law for officials when they leave office. Reagan is a former two-term governor of California.

"There has been no change in my financial situation since" then, he said. He did not say when the new information will be released.

Public records show Reagan owns three pieces of California real estate with a total market value of $2,363,000. And a source close to Reagan described as "pretty accurate" a report by the San Francisco Examiner that estimated Reagan's 1975 earnings at $700,000 from lectures, his radio show and newspaper columns.

Meanwhile, Common Cause, which describes itself as the citizen's lobby, released financial data about nine Democratic candidates. The only professed millionaire among them was Gov. Milton A. Shapp of Pennsylvania, with assets estimated at $2.8 million.

Sargent Shriver listed his total assets at $135,000 as of August 31, 1975, but gave no information on his wife, the former Eunice Kennedy, who is reported to share in Kennedy family trusts.

The Ford financial statement covering the last 10 years said the President's net worth has increased by about $67,000 since he was nominated October 1973 to become vice-president. Most of that reflected increased real estate values on four homes the Fords own or in which they have an interest.

The statement also said the Fords aren't saving any money in their own names despite the President's annual salary and expense allowance. Nessen said the President has purchased U.S. Savings Bonds in the names of his four children.

The figures show the first family paid $56,296 in federal income taxes in 1974 on a taxable income of $128,472. Federal income taxes on that amount of income normally would be higher than what Ford reported. White House aides said they would seek an explanation from Ford's tax accountant but suggested that because the President's income rose by some $55,000 in 1974, he may have taken advantage of the tax law's income averaging provisions.

Ford's net worth was given at $323,489, with liabilities of $1,200 in "general bills outstanding." In 1973, when Ford was nominated for vice president, he listed assets of $261,078, with $4,700 in liabilities.

No net asset figures were discernible in reports filed by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a Democrat, in his home state. Following the reporting guidelines set by state law, the form gives amounts in terms of "over" or

"under" $1,000 or $10,000. No totals of income, assets or liabilities are given.

Wallace lists sources of income including royalties from Wallace Campaign Inc., of over $10,000. He has demanded that his campaign organization pay him royalties for the use of his name on buttons and pictures. The only asset listed is a home in the range of $50,000 to $250,000. Wallace also lists debts to three banks in the range between $25,000 and $50,000.

Before Reagan said he would disclose more of his financial data, Peter Kaye, spokesman for the President Ford Committee, said the question of personal financial disclosure will be a campaign issue.

"We think Reagan ought to supply financial information," Kaye said.

Shapp has disclosed estimated assets for 1974 as $2,812,096. Income in 1974 for Shapp and his wife was reported as $213,349, on which he paid $34,896 in federal income tax.

A helpful wedding gift

CLEVELAND (AP) — Michael J. Briceland of Summitville was struggling along with physical problems brought on by a traffic accident and worrying about his impending marriage when the Ohio Lottery Buckeye 1,000 game came along with a helpful wedding present.

Briceland, 26, won the top prize Thursday night in this week's Buckeye 1,000 drawing, winning $1,000 a month for life or a guaranteed $400,000 minimum.

He said he has been out of work because of injuries suffered in a traffic accident last July 3 and, "I didn't think I'd win it, but you've got to win something sometime."

Briceland said he will marry Joy Palmer, 23, of Hanoverton, Ohio, Saturday, and added, "We'll probably buy a house or something like that. It's a heck of a wedding present."

The former Marine said he has had a disc removed from his lower back and still is suffering from back and lower neck problems, but is looking forward to going back to work. "It gets kind of old sitting around."

The other winners Thursday night were John Piwinski of Oberlin $4,000, Bruce Light of North Canton won $3,000, Warren Marconi of Rayland won $2,000 and Anthony Pietromica of North Olmstead won $1,000.

In the Buckeye 1,000, the winning six-digit number was 776766; the five-digit number 64980; the four-digit number 3946, and the three-digit number 519.

The Spirit of '76 six-digit winner was 541002; five-digit 06893, and the four-digit 1646. The Liberty Bell numbers were 11, 25, 33 and 13.

Marijuana said no worse than alcohol or tobacco

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't fret about their health if your teen-agers are experimenting with marijuana. The majority of them are these days and it's safer than booze or cigarettes, says Dr. Robert L. DuPont of the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

DuPont confesses he smoked pot himself when he was younger and didn't know better.

Not that DuPont, a physician, is a marijuana advocate. Quite the contrary, he told newsmen Thursday. "If it was up to me I would stop use of all of these drugs (marijuana, alcohol and tobacco) at the wave of my hand," he said.

But kids will be kids, he said, and it's important for parents "not to get so uptight" if their youngsters try pot a few times. The most recent survey shows that for the first time a majority of 53 per cent of youths in the 18 to 25 age group admitted trying marijuana and 12 per cent of the 14 and 15 years olds are current users.

DuPont's advice to youths is: Don't take it up if you haven't already because it's expensive, messy and does pose some health risks.

But the hazards are not as serious as cigarettes and alcohol, he said.

"Alcohol really does kill people from overdoses," he said, "but it is virtually impossible to die from marijuana."

Cigarettes cause cancer and respiratory and heart disease, he added, but marijuana doesn't even cause bronchitis except among very heavy smokers. And the institute's fifth marijuana report to Congress contains no evidence it causes permanent biological harm, he said.

If you smoke pot and are determined to continue, DuPont said, "use as little as possible and as responsibly as possible."

Marijuana intoxication can impair your reflexes and judgment just the same as too much beer, wine or liquor and presents a "clear and present danger" to auto drivers and machinery operators, he said.

And, he added, there's still a lot scientists don't know about marijuana's effects on the body's chemistry and what they do know might be thrown out the window when more potent varieties of marijuana and hashish oil are used.

DuPont said he personally favors a $25 fine rather than jail sentences for simple possession of small amounts of marijuana. That would provide a signal that pot smoking is "prohibited behavior," he said, and imprisonment would be reserved for dealers in the drug.

Kennel club holds meeting

The Paint Valley Kennel Club met Thursday night at Anderson's Restaurant for its February dinner meeting.

Attending as guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marchant, president and vice president respectively of the Fayette County Humane Society.

The kennel club discussed tentative plans for a spring obedience course and a spring dog show.

Club members also voted to donate $200 to the humane society to defray costs of its continued work with homeless and injured animals.

Robert Schneider, club president, presided during the meeting.

The Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant U.S. 35-S, has been out of production the past week, but will resume Monday. Cudahy Foods, Inc., closed Wednesday and expects to remain closed for two or three weeks.

Armco Steel Corp. had given some 400 employees the option of taking a week's vacation or a one-week layoff. Plant personnel director Leo B. Edwards said most employees opted for the "vacation." He blamed lagging sales as the reason for the closing.

Cudahy's plant manager Tom Snyder said the cheese manufacturer has its lockers full and cannot economically obtain additional storage.

Most of the cheese products manufactured here are shipped to the East Coast, and poor weather there has produced a lull in sales. He cited short order and pizza restaurants as retailers who have suffered reduced sales because of hazardous driving conditions along the coast.

The manufacturing layoff affects some 40 Cudahy employees who will be recalled when production resumes.

"As soon as our inventory is reduced," the plant will resume manufacturing, he said.

At the moment, cheese prices are low while prices are high, Snyder added. A drop in wholesale milk prices is likely in the near future, he continued.

If the cheese manufactured cannot be stored, there is no reason for continued production, Snyder said. When production will resume depends on what happens to the price of cheese. If retail cheese prices rise, the inventory will be reduced much more quickly, he noted.

Snyder said he hoped sufficient inventory would be shipped so that production could resume in two weeks, but if retail prices remain low, it might be three weeks before manufacturing begins again.

NAMES AND NUMBERS that matter most are always in sight with Ohio Bell's new "Touch-A-Matic" telephone. They are on polyester film and can easily be changed with pencil, pen or typewriter. The new generation phone stores up to 31 telephone numbers and dials any one of them electronically at the touch of a single button.

New telephone with memory is introduced by Ohio Bell

"Touch-a-Matic," a telephone with a memory, is being unveiled by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. this month.

Designed for telephone users who call the same numbers frequently, this new generation phone provides both speed and simplicity when placing a call, according to Susan Link, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in Washington C. H.

The computer-age phone can be programmed to remember 31 different 15-digit numbers, any one of which can be dialed electronically at the touch of a single button.

An additional button, labeled "last number dialed," can automatically redial a number that was busy on the first try. The solid-state memory in the telephone records the last manuallydial number — a great time saving feature.

Either a local or long distance number can be recorded in the phone's memory, Mrs. Link said. And numbers can be added or changed by a simple dialing process.

A directory of pre-recorded numbers is displayed on the face of the set, eliminating the need to look-up any of the frequently called numbers.

The "Touch-A-Matic" phone is slightly larger than a standard desk telephone. It is available as a six-button or single line set with either a touch-tone or rotary dial. The new phones come in beige, black, green or white.

The monthly rate for the new phone is $12, said Mrs. Link. There also is an initial charge of $35, plus the normal installation fee.

Judge nixes taste test

CLEVELAND (AP) — The jurors in a trial involving six cases of stolen whiskey felt they needed a taste of the evidence before finding William D. Harman, 37, of Cleveland guilty of receiving stolen property Thursday.

Judge Lloyd O. Brown of Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court received a note from the jury which read: "Ice and glasses, please."

Judge Brown refused the request and the trial went on without delay.

Harman was arrested Sept. 11 by FBI agents and Middleburg Heights police within hours after 79 cases of liquor were stolen from a Newark, Ohio, store. FBI agents testified they received a tip that Harman and three other men burgled the liquor store and were transporting the loot in the rented truck.

They found the truck in Middleburg Heights and recovered the liquor.

Firemen douse vehicle blaze

A car fire was extinguished by Washington C. H. firemen Thursday evening and a false alarm at Fayette Memorial Hospital was investigated earlier in the day.

An auto owned by Walter Fox, 1024 Willard St., caught fire at 4:54 p.m. Thursday. Firemen reported a three and a half year old boy, Ron Byrd, of 913 Forrest St., was in the car at the time of the blaze and believe he set the fire. The youth escaped without injury and damage to the auto after the fire was subdued by firemen with water was estimated at $200.

Firemen responded to a fire alarm at Fayette Memorial Hospital at 11:10 a.m. Thursday. They reported a malfunction in the alarm system. There was no fire.

Opinion And Comment

All candidates please note

An intriguing sidelight to the pre-convention drama is being played in California, whose population gives it more delegates than any other state. Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and

Edward M. Kennedy have formally declared that they do not want their names to appear on California's presidential primary ballot.

But a third person to whom the question was officially put has not yet replied, thus keeping his options open. His name: Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

An irrepressible issue looms

The people who are against gun legislation have refined the concept of negative bullet voting (no pun intended) to a point where politicians live in fear and trembling lest they be asked their opinion about stopping the sale of arms. In 1970, by zeroing in against the "three D's" in Connecticut - the late Sen. Tom Dodd, the Rev. Joseph Duffey and Emilio Daddario - the gun people claimed they changed the complexion of state politics, sending Lowell Weicker to the U.S. Senate over both Duffey and Dodd and putting Republican Tom Meskill in the governor's office instead of the hitherto popular Daddario.

Whether the claims were exaggerated is a question: all we know for certain is that Weicker and Meskill were not anti-gun.

Bullet voting consists of making one issue the litmus test before going to the polls and voting with a fine eye to revenge. I have no means of being certain that the anti-abortion people are consciously emulating the gun people, but I am beginning to suspect they are. They recently staged a huge "right to life" demonstration in Washington, D.C., getting an enthusiastic telegram from Ronald Reagan and equivocal treatment from the White House.

They have been causing trouble for candidate Birch Bayh, who doesn't want to be pinned down on the issue. Though they did well by Jimmy Carter in Iowa, they are now chivvying the ex-governor of Georgia about an inconsistency. (Carter, to make a good showing in Iowa, said he would vote for a national statute to prohibit abortion, which conflicted with his previous stand against a constitutional amendment to change the Supreme Court's ruling on giving women free choice in the matter up to a certain point in pregnancy.)

Right to life is bound to be an issue in New Hampshire, where there is a strong French-Canadian Catholic voting bloc. If Catholics figure in the Republican primary, Reagan will do all right in avoiding a bullet vote against him, for he has explicitly endorsed the idea of a constitutional amendment to protect the unborn. But someone is sure to bring up the question of how Betty Ford feels on the issue, and Jerry Ford may find himself in something of a corner.

As for the Democrats contesting New Hampshire, they see a cloud, now no bigger than a man's hand, that could easily become a real menace. There is the surprising candidacy of Ellen Cullen McCormack, a Long Island housewife who is married to a New York policeman. Mrs. McCormack, a member of the Pro-Life Action Committee in her home community of Merrick, decided last summer to contest the Democratic primaries. She has accomplished the near-miracle of raising, at last count, $135,000 in small sums in 20 states, which means that she qualifies for $100,000 in Federal matching funds. She has visited New Hampshire once, and will go there soon again but, more important, her access to Federal matching funds will enable her backers to pay for the TV spots that will be beamed into New Hampshire in her behalf from Boston on Feb. 16 and after.

It is not to be expected that a virtual unknown can get a big vote even on a bullet issue, but the damage that Mrs. McCormack could do to wafflers on abortion in New Hampshire and elsewhere is considerable. She could be the cause of diverting votes to the major candidate who is most willing to approximate her uncompromising position on right to life.

Sargent Shriver, who ran badly among the Catholics in Iowa because he refused to endorse a constitutional amendment against abortion, will have to worry about a bullet vote against him in New Hampshire. Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall, Fred Harris and the rest will surely be put on the spot by the McCormack candidacy. Carter has the best chance of avoiding the bullet voter's wrath, but even he will have to do something about making his statements consistent.

The McCormack supporters are hoping for 5 or 6 per cent of the Democratic primary vote in New Hampshire. That will be enough, they think, to force every presidential candidate in both parties to come clean on an issue which many of them prefer to dodge.

Road work approved by agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three rural highway public transportation demonstration projects have been approved by the state Department of Transportation, director Richard D. Jackson said.

He said the projects have been tentatively selected for funding by the Federal Highway Administration.

Copies of transcripts from mid-December hearings on the projects, along with recommendations for approval, funding and early implementation of the projects, have been sent to John C. McBee, Ohio division administrator for the federal agency.

The seven-county Appalachian Regional Transit Association would receive $369,584 to help finance a three-year demonstration project designed to combine many of the present transportation programs in Athens, Hocking and Perry counties into one system. The project also would provide for expansion of service into Meigs, Jackson, Vinton and Gallia counties where public transit is nonexistent, according to Jackson. He said the system is expected to establish self-sufficiency within three years.

Clermont County would receive $256,400 for one year to help establish a county transit system and Geauga County would receive $89,148 for a two-year demonstration program to provide public transportation, the department said.

Revolutionary movements of 1830 and 1848, sending many thousands of Germans into exile, brought many of them to Ohio. In 1830, for example, only five per cent of Cincinnati residents were of German stock but within 10 years a fourth of the city population was German. Other large German colonies were established in northwestern Ohio, from Mercer and Auglaize counties to Toledo and Sandusky.

Ohio Perspective

'Sunshine law' proves costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's new "Sunshine Law" requiring open meetings of government bodies is causing unexpected expenses for many of the state's news media.

Government bodies which routinely notified reporters of their meetings before the law became effective now are charging reporters for the same service. One newspaper has estimated its cost so far at between $1,500 and $2,000.

Sponsors of the legislation said that was never intended, and the attorney general has ruled the charges violate the spirit of the law.

But the bills, running up to $52 a year, keep coming.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Robert Freeman, D-29 Canton, said no charge was intended. A clause allowing a charge to be assessed was inserted in committee.

The sponsor of that amendment, Sen. Thomas Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, said news media were supposed to be exempt from the charge. He said it was inserted because without a fee provision, public bodies "could have been deluged by hundreds of requests for notification — most of them frivolous."

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, in an analysis of the law issued when it became effective, ruled that "a meeting is open only in theory if the public has no knowledge of the time and place at which it is to be held ... Moreover, the cost of notification of regular meetings must be assumed by the public body."

Some suburban school districts are charging reporters up to $52 a year for notice of regular meetings, although Van Meter said his amendment was intended to cover only the actual cost of paper, envelope and postage.

Most state agencies are charging $10 a year for notice. Many provide a free notice to the Ohio Legislative Correspondents Association, however.

Paul Richards, information officer for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) said he sent letters to all news media offering regular notice for $20 a year.

He said he's had no takers. But he added the PUCO does not charge for telephone notice of special meetings, a cost which has been running between about $60 to $75 a week. About 100 news organizations have requested that service, he said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Children neglect elderly mother

DEAR ABBY: I have an elderly mother who has been in a nursing home for the last four years.

I am one of her three children. (One son and two daughters.) We all live within a 45-minute drive from the nursing home, and all of us contribute equally toward the expenses, but I am the only one who visits her. I go there every day.

My brother goes once in four months. He says, "I just can't take it. That place is so depressing!" Can you believe it? He calls Mamma on the phone maybe once a week and keeps asking her if she "needs" anything. (All she needs is for him to visit once in a while.)

My sister runs over there once a month for five minutes. She doesn't even sit down. She tells me the "smell" of that place makes her sick. How is that for an excuse?

Although Mamma gets confused once in a while, she is far from senile. I know she's hurt, but there's nothing I can do about it.

Please print this. The shoe will fit both a woman, size 6, and a man, size 10. Let them wear it!

HAD IT IN DETROIT

DEAR HAD IT: The shoe for this situation has no size. One size fits all.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem and I need help. I have been married for six years, and my husband still acts as though we have been married only a few days.

He won't keep his hands off me. We can have marital relations for an hour straight, and he is ready to go again in 15 minutes. I don't ever reach a climax.

Should my husband see a doctor, or should I get some energy pills?

MRS. A. IN KILGORE, TEX.

DEAR MRS. A.: Energy pills won't help. You need professional help. (P.S. Too bad your husband wasn't born during Biblical times when a man could have as many wives as he could support.)

DEAR ABBY: I am an 80-year-old man who lost his wife last year. I'm in good health, but I am lonely.

I have become attracted to my widowed sister-in-law. She's my wife's younger sister. I never thought I would consider marrying again, but lately I am changing my mind because of this lady.

Is it wrong to have romantic feelings about a sister-in-law? She's 74 and a lot of fun, and she reminds me of my beloved wife.

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: When your wife died, her sister ceased being your sister-in-law. She is now as eligible as any other single woman. If the romantic feelings are mutual, proceed without guilt. Neither of you needs parental consent.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Feb. 13, the 44th day of 1976. There are 322 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1689, the English Parliament adopted a Bill of Rights.

On this date:

In 1633, the Italian astronomer, Galileo, arrived in Rome and was detained by the Roman Catholic inquisition.

In 1635, the first public school in America, the Boston Public Latin School, was founded.

In 1741, Andrew Bradford of Philadelphia published the first magazine in the United States.

In 1920, the League of Nations recognized the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland.

In 1945, in World War II, the Soviets captured Budapest, Hungary, from the Germans after a 50-day siege.

In 1962, the United States rejected a Soviet proposal that 18 heads of state meet in Geneva to discuss disarmament.

Ten years ago: Vice President Hubert Humphrey reassured leaders in Thailand that the United States intended to stand firm in Southeast Asia. Five years ago: South Vietnamese troops were driving into Laos and reported seizing large stores of Communist arms and supplies.

One year ago: Turkish Cypriotes proclaimed a separate state in the Turkish-occupied northern part of Cyprus.

Today's birthdays: Former First Lady Bess Truman is 91. Opera singer Eileen Farrell is 56.

Thought for today: Reading is sometimes an ingenious device for avoiding thought — Sir Arthur Helps, English historian, 1813-1875.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, a Philadelphia member of the Second Continental Congress, James Wilson, made what may have been the first open proposal in the Congress for political separation from England.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Whether you have little or much to do, your attitude and approach to all matters will be important — from the start. Stress your good judgment and innate perceptiveness.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

When least expected, you may have to take on some extra responsibilities, but all the rewards will be worth it — IF you handle them well, and aimable.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

If you go out of your way to make changes, they should be both reasonable and in order, or you will run into difficulties. In general, stick with routine.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Look over what is planned and eliminate completely what would deter

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

In all matters and projects requiring training and practice, if you are consistent and careful, you will gain new advantages. Just one admonition: curb aggressiveness.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

It may take longer than usual to put across a proposition or a point, but you can still get much accomplished and make a good impression.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Care needed in both your budgetary and your domestic matters. Also, avoid restlessness and changeability. A day for straight-line thinking and action.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

An excellent day for both business and personal interests. Even if you have to make some compromises, it will be profitable in the long run.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may be given some extra responsibilities, but if the end results seem worthwhile, accept them — ambitiously. Curb a tendency toward restlessness.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

You may make a discovery both unexpected and profitable. Your clue lies in reading between the lines, studying the "fine print."

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Give a little extra time to matters which have been neglected, and remain flexible in your thinking; but DON'T go to extremes. Stress your inherent good sense.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Be extremely careful to discriminate between rumor and fact, not to accept hearsay as accurate information. Some deceptive trends prevail.

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by one of the zodiac's most stimulating configurations. You can excel as executive, in statesmanship, the law, the arts. The Aquarian's flair for entertainment is evident even in his home life, and all make delightful party hosts, raconteurs. Your courage, independence and generosity are outstanding. You will share your assets with others, but often demand your own way with the recipients of your bounty — and achievements.

Noah's Ark

Thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons and thy wife, and thy sons' wives . . . and of every living thing . . . two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark.

— Genesis 6: 18 - 19

Many centuries passed between the time of Abel's murder and the time of Noah and many were the prophets who preached over the years. Nevertheless, the Bible tells us, man's wickedness was great and the Lord became increasingly bitter. He "repented" of His creation and resolved to wipe out the whole race and make a fresh start. Choosing Noah and his family as progenitors of the future, He gave instructions for the building of an ark which would spare them and a duo of all living creatures from the deluge which was to destroy the earth and all its inhabitants.

Ban babies from churches?

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
"Ban the babies from church," urges an Ohio clergyman. "Bawling babies unrestrained or unrecovered by rude parents are the greatest obstacle to the people of God hearing the Word of God since the barbarians invaded Christendom in the fifth century."

But there has been a stiff outcry of rebuttal to his suggestion. He should "pick on somebody his own size instead of innocent children and parents of them," says the Rev. James Thurman of Kenosha, Wis.

"Suffer the little children to come unto me," reminds Rose Ann Dantone of Peoria, Ill., quoting Jesus.

The seriocomic controversy was sparked by the Rev. Frank E. Fortkamp of Columbus, Ohio, in an article in U.S. Catholic, a national magazine published by the Claretian Fathers. He says it's time to stop the "infant invasion of the churches."

"In ever-new waves, they infiltrate our pews, their vocal cords strengthened by evermore potent baby formulas and miracle baby vitamins," he says. When a preacher starts his sermon, "the odds are that some ungagged, unfettered, yelling, screaming infant" will not only make it impossible for the preacher to remember what he planned to say, but impossible for anyone to hear it.

"Ban the babies!"

But a contrary chorus came from those who disagreed. It's "very important for the family to participate" as a group, including the young, says Sister Eugenia Brown of Guthrie, Okla. "Prayer and Christianity are 'caught more than taught.'"

"Fie on Father Fortkamp," says the Rev. James J. Doyle of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He said babies are "here to stay. My plan: Let's outshoot them! Let our motto be Preacher Power!"

Mrs. Roger Steidel, of North Royalton, Ohio, says "the church is God's house and God loves the children more than we'll ever know." Instead of banning babies, says Domenica Moorman of Smithtown, N.Y., "we should ban dull domilies (sermons)."

On the other hand, Father Fortkamp's sortie also had its supporters. "Bellowing babies distract the congregation," writes Vola Burakowski of Norfolk, Va. The message gets "lost in the 'din'.... I love kids, but don't think it is fair for the parents to drag all the kids along."

The Rev. William R. Mayers of Blaine, Ohio, says the sermon deserves to "be free from this commonplace distraction" by youngsters. "The efforts should be to exclude the crying little ones until ... they're church-broken."

Pastor to give Biblical drama

The Rev. Frank Roughton, former professional actor and now an ordained United Methodist minister, will present a dramatic performance of "The Sermon on the Mount" at 7 p.m., Feb. 15, in the Sabina United Methodist Church.

Residing in Cambridge, Rev. Roughton has taught both Bible and drama, and has travelled throughout many parts of the world presenting Biblical interpretations.

The service is scheduled to last for an hour.

The life of Gerald R. Ford is reviewed for Progress Club

The Progress Club of Jeffersonville met in the home of Mrs. Russell Hall with Mrs. Joe Lanum assisting hostess. Mrs. John Sheeley began the meeting with "My Wish for Your Valentine." Eighteen members answered roll call by naming a hobby of a president.

Mrs. Wayne Dowler reviewed "The President," a story of the life of Gerald R. Ford, the 38th president of the United States of America. J.F. ter Horst, Ford's first press secretary, was the author of the book.

Ford has proved that success in American politics is rarely determined by time of birth, place of upbringing, family name, or private wealth. The basic requirement is the possession of certain personal attributes that are in public demand at an hour of public need. In this sense, Gerald Ford has been lucky most of his life.

President Ford was born Leslie Lynch King on July 14, 1913, but in 1915 his parents were divorced and his mother later married a paint salesman, Gerald Ford. Formal adoption papers were taken out for the young son who was renamed Gerald R. Ford Jr. Ford remembers his stepfather as a kind man and a fair man, but also as a firm man, the strongest influence of his life. Even today, he often wonders how dad would have done a certain job.

Mrs. Sheeley closed the meeting with "Father of Our Country."

During the social hour, a dessert course was served. The next meeting, Feb. 24, will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence Knecht.

Miss Wissler hostess to True Blue Class

Miss Lida Grace Wissler presented the program on various activities of the Bicentennial Year 1976, when members of the True Blue Class of Grace United Methodist Church met in her home. She had suggestions and on display reading

Ross Brown, AFS student CCL speaker

Ross Brown, American Field Service exchange student from New Zealand, was guest speaker when the Progressive Heirs Child Conservation League met in the home of Mrs. Delmar Mann this week. Ross narrated slides of his homeland and spoke of the school system there. He also discussed industries, crops and the sizes of their towns in comparison to towns in Ohio, and explained how one goes about to apply to be an AFS. His talk was most interesting.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Fred Doyle, who announced that the ways and means committee has planned a bake sale Feb. 21, and to plan a garage sale in the future to raise funds for the league.

The Constitution and by-laws were voted on and approved. A nominating committee was appointed to make a slate of officers for the coming year, to be voted on at the March meeting.

A thank you from Mrs. Wayne Arnold was acknowledged, and a dessert course was served by Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Doyle to Mrs. Edward Davis, (Ross Brown's American mother), Mrs. Wayne Dowler, Mrs. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Wayne Arnold, Mrs. Melvin Hinkley, Mrs. Roger Lovett, Mrs. Gordon McCarty and Mrs. Rodger Merritt.

The March 3 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Hinkley when Omar Schwartz will be guest speaker.

'Music and the Presidents' presented by Cecilians

Mrs. Frank Creamer, president, conducted the semi-annual business meeting of the Cecilian Music Club which preceded the regular program for February. The minutes of the June business meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reported the balances in the general, scholarship, and strings funds. Members voted to make a $50 scholarship available at Miami Trace and Washington High Schools for a graduate planning to major in music. Six new members were voted on and will receive an invitation to active membership. Mrs. Creamer announced the Spring Workshop for March 12 at Hueston Woods Lodge, sponsored by the Oxford Club. The theme will be "Spirit of '76".

Suggestions for National Music Week activities should be given to Mrs. Michael Campbell. Due to the number of other musical activities planned for the spring it was decided that the Choir Festival would not be held this year. Donations to the Music Camps and Scholarship Funds of the National Federation of Music Clubs were voted. Because of a conflict with the Lions Club Variety Show, the March meeting of Cecilians will be held one week later, March 16, in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Kelly. The new officers for 1976-77 are president: Mrs. Michael Campbell; vice-president: Mrs. Wayne King; recording secretary: Mrs. Robert Bachelor; reporting secretary: Mrs. Gerald Wheat; treasurer: Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse; Music librarian: Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, and historian: Mrs. Richard Stinson.

The program opened with the reading by Mrs. Creamer of some lines of a poem by James W. Johnson. It was announced that the Miami A Capella Singers will perform at Grace Methodist Church, February 22 at 4 p.m.. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Maurice Hopkins. The theme "Music and the Presidents," was presented by the Cecilian Double Trio composed of Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Gerald Wheat, and Miss Verna Williams with Mrs. Donald Schwaigert as accompanist and arranger. Mrs. Wheat served as chairman and narrator for the program which began with a short review of the musical interests of some of our presidents. Since hymns have played an important part in the history of the country, it was appropriate that the musical portion opened with one of the earliest American hymns, Chester, written by William Billings. Members of the club joined in singing this with Mrs. Schwaigert as accompanist.

Mrs. Wheat traced briefly the development of music in America, mentioning highlights in relation to various presidents. The Double Trio sang a medley of songs from Camelot which is frequently associated with the administration of John F. Kennedy. Marches were an early development for American ceremonial use. Mrs. Schwaigert played the President's March by Philip Phile and the Federal March by Alexander Reinagle as examples of 18th century music. Mrs. Wheat read the words of a chorus sung to George Washington at Trenton, N.J. as he traveled to New York for his first inauguration. Political songs are also connected with Presidents and the words of a campaign song from 1840, Tyler and Tippecanoe, were also read. Many of our Presidents have listened to and performed music for their own enjoyment. Mrs. Thompson sang The Wayworn Traveller, a favorite of Washington's which was often sung by Nelly Custis. Mrs. Fennig sang Beneath a Weeping Willow's Shade from the Seven Songs dedicated to George Washington in 1788 by Francis Hopkinson. Harriet Lane, niece of James Buchanan, was his White House hostess and to her Septimus Winner dedicated Listen to the Mockingbird. Alice Blue was named for Alice Roosevelt, daughter of Theodore. The Double Trio sang Mrs. Schwaigert's arrangements of Listen to the Mockingbird and Alice Blue Gown. To sum up the program of music and the Presidents the Double Trio, with Jeff Sheridan as guest soloist, presented the cantata, Ballad for Americans by John Latouche and Earl Robinson. This is the story of America - the Revolution, the move west, the Civil War, and the Machine Age. Our own Ohio President, Rutherford B. Hayes and his wife, Lucy Webb Hayes, a native of Chillicothe, always closed their White House social events with the Marine Band playing Home Sweet Home. So club members joined in singing this to close the program.

Mrs. Creamer thanked Mrs. John P. Case for her hospitality and welcomed one guest, Mrs. Kenneth Bush. Cake, coffee, and tea were served during the social hour by Mrs. Richard Stinson, chairman; Mrs. G.B. Vance, Mrs. Truman Dunn, Mrs. Lee Rowe, Miss Margaret Gibson, and Mrs. William Still.

'Between parent and child' circle topic

Circle Five of the First Presbyterian Church met in the church parlor with Mrs. Clyde Cramer and Mrs. Warren Craig as hostesses for the coffee hour preceding the meeting. Devotions were given by Mrs. Tom Rankin, using "A Young Mother's Prayer". The Mission Interpretation concerning the John Hyson School in New Mexico was given by Mrs. Richard Glass. Mrs. Larry Cruea presented the Mission Yearbook of Prayer information on Bogota, Colombia.

The Least Coin offering was received. Mrs. Hank Shaffer, so-leader, announced the carry-in dinner for the congregation on February 22 at 12:30. The Carlsons from Pakistan will be the speakers. Circle Five will be the hostess group. Members were also asked to plan ahead for the Women's Retreat at Geneva Hills on April 27 and 28. It was decided to use the study book, "Christians in Families", when the present one is completed. The study leader was unable to be present, so members participated in a group discussion of portions of the book, "Between Parent and Child". Present were Mrs. Craig, Mrs.

Cramer, Mrs. Cruea, Mrs. David Fabb, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Ralph Leeds, Mrs. Gary McMurray, Mrs. William Pool,

Mrs. Dement class hostess

Mrs. Fred DeMent was hostess to 15 members of In His Service Class of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church. Mrs. Helen Coil was in charge of the opening and read the "Personal Prayer" of Helen Steiner Rice. All repeated "The Lord's Prayer."

The discussion of a proposed bus trip to Roscoe Village was made, a committee appointed to select a luncheon place in April, and a nominating committee for a slate of officers to be voted on in June was on the agenda.

Mrs. Lillian Ervin, program chairman, read from the Book of Solomon for devotions and conducted a quiz concerning the Bicentennial.

Mrs. DeMent served a salad course during the social hour.

Wedding announced

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Parks, 10028 U.S. Rt. 62, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Vickie, to Tony Carter, son of Mr. C. E. Carter, 1686 Ohio Rt. 41-NE, and the late Mrs. Carter.

The marriage took place in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev.

Harold Messmer, pastor of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church officiating.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Carter are senior students at the Laurel Oaks Vocational School, Wilmington. They are residing in Washington C.H.

Patty Hearst trial nearing completion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the prosecution ready to rest its case, Patricia Hearst's attorneys planned to call her ex-fiance today to recount the night of the kidnaping that ultimately led to her trial for bank robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said he would wrap up his case against the 21-year-old newspaper heiress today when he resumed questioning FBI agent Thomas J. Padden, "our final witness."

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey said he would immediately begin reconstructing Miss Hearst's kidnaping by calling her former fiance, Steven Weed, to the stand.

Weed was left beaten and bleeding at their Berkeley apartment the chilly night of Feb. 4, 1974, when the Symbionese Liberation Army abducted Miss Hearst. He and the defendant have not met since the kidnaping. Miss Hearst was captured here Sept. 18.

The defense maintains that Miss Hearst took part in the bank robbery two months after her kidnaping out of fear for her life.

Browning based his case on Miss Hearst's own words and actions during her bizarre 19-month odyssey through the terrorist underground and on testimony of witnesses who saw her during that time.

The evidence he offered included bank camera photos of her during a San Francisco robbery two months after the kidnaping and a tape recording in which she proclaimed allegiance to the SLA.

Browning called 32 witnesses, including law enforcement officers, persons at the scene of the bank robbery and a Los Angeles area teen-ager who was kidnaped and spent a night with Miss Hearst and SLA members William and Emily Harris.

Bailey has secured U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter's approval to take the jury to two hideouts where Miss Hearst was kept in closets in the weeks just after her kidnaping.

They also will visit the bank that Miss Hearst and the SLA robbed on April 15, 1974.

Toledo boy killed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Michael Middaugh, 14, of Toledo, was struck and killed by a city bus Wednesday night as he crossed a city street, police said.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — Television abounds with forgettable music awards shows, but there's a truly unique one coming up this weekend on public TV that you'll enjoy. We say it's unique because:

—John Denver doesn't appear on it. —It salutes only jazz artists, specifically some past and present winners of the annual Down Beat magazine reader's poll awards. It's co-hosted by composer-musicians Quincy Jones and Chick Corea.

Its title, "Down Beat — The 1975 Reader's Poll Awards," is a bit misleading if you're expecting another awards show featuring lots of plaques, speeches and renditions of played-to-death hits.

It's not that at all. True, six of the 10 featured musicians are winners of last year's Down Beat awards. But no plaques are awarded, no speeches are made and the full list of award winners doesn't appear until the end of the show, popping up along with the credits.

Most of the hour is spent on just playing good jazz, with brief introductory remarks by the co-hosts.

There is some ensemble work, but all the featured artists get individual turns before the camera. And what musicians — trumpeter Freddie Hubbard, trombonist Bill Watrous, flutist Hubert Laws and guitarist George Benson, to name a few.

The sound reproduction, which commercial TV rarely gets right, is uniformly excellent. It even makes Hubbard's trumpet work — and trumpet solos usually sound thin and tiny on those wee TV speakers — come out as pleasant and mellow as on his albums.

The show is produced by station WTTW in Chicago. Down Beat should give the producers an award simply for showing they care enough about jazz to give the ears of viewers the very best.

CBS tonight is opening a new series called "Sara," but we fear it is not the very best, despite the fine acting of Brenda Vaccaro in the title role.

Sara is a Philadelphia-born schoolmarm who comes to Colorado in 1870 to teach the sons and daughters of the pioneers reading, writing and all that in a one-room schoolhouse just outside of town.

Perhaps young members of the family will enjoy it. But we suspect grown-ups will be looking elsewhere for dramatic sustenance.

Belle Aire students portray Lincoln at colorful program

The student body of Belle Aire Elementary School presented a colorful program Thursday night at the Washington C. H. Middle School which depicted the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Entitled "Lincoln — A Man for the Ages," the presentation combined, under the direction of Mrs. Gene Hughes, the musical and dramatic talents of the students. Through song, narration, and pantomime the students traced the life of the 16th President from his boyhood in Illinois to his death in Washington, D. C. from an assassin's bullet.

After a short narration, each grade presented a scene from Lincoln's life while classmates sang several patriotic selections.

The scenes included young Abe and his father, a sketch of the youth in school, Lincoln's wrestling match, the Lincoln-Douglas debates, and President Lincoln during the Civil War. Selections presented by the Belle Aire Elementary School Choir highlighted the hour-long program which attracted a full house in the Middle School auditorium. A back drop of Lincoln's portrait on a red, white and blue background as well as color slides of Washington D. C. and the Lincoln Memorial added to the visual effect.

At the conclusion of the program, the students presented Mrs. Hughes with bouquet of roses for her efforts directing the performance, and Mrs. Hughes thanked accompanist Mrs. Ralph Yerian and the Belle Aire Elementary School faculty for their assistance.

Otterbein College founded by the United Brethren Church, and Oberlin College founded by Congregationalists in 1833, had several things in common. Both Ohio schools were centers of antislavery feeling and they were the first coed colleges in the world.

Unneeded abortions seen after spray adhesive ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — A short-lived ban on spray adhesives by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission frightened many pregnant women and led at least eight women across the country to have unnecessary abortions, a new study says.

The ban on the products was lifted six months after it was imposed in 1973, but the study by a New York State researcher says some doctors were flooded with calls from pregnant women worried about possible birth defects due to the product.

The commission banned spray adhesives in August 1973 because an Oklahoma researcher said two deformed babies and their parents had genetic damage that might be linked to the adhesives.

In January 1974, the commission reversed its position, saying there is no evidence the product causes birth defects or genetic damage.

Dr. Ernest B. Hook, a section chief in the New York State Birth Defects Institute, surveyed genetic specialists and medical centers across the country to determine the effect of the initial ban of the adhesives.

The safety commission urged pregnant women to contact their doctors or genetic specialists immediately after it announced the ban on the products.

But Robert M. Hehir, director of biomedical science for the commission, said the agency did not encourage any woman to have an abortion.

"It's very clear that the commission never advocated abortion," he said in an interview. "Clinical abortion was not exactly the thing that anyone should go out and do."

Apparently, the commission ban and public statements urging pregnant women to see their doctors worked, according to Hook's study.

Retarded flee fire

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Nine residents of a training center for the mentally retarded were forced to flee when fire destroyed their dormitory late Thursday night.

Firemen said residents at the Ottawa Valley Center for the Mentally Retarded and Developmentally Disabled evacuated the home shortly before 11 p.m. after smoke detectors in the building were triggered.

No one was injured, according to officials of the center, which is located on the south edge of Lima.

Some residents reported seeing smoke seeping from electrical outlets as they left the dormitory, but authorities have not yet determined the fire's cause.

Officers investigate six accidents

Pedestrian injured in car mishap

A Washington C. H. man was injured when struck by a car at 6:50 a.m. Friday morning.

Washington C. H. police reported Dale L. Sharp, 26, of 728 Eastern Ave., was walking down Delaware Street, near the alley between Peabody Street and Eastern Avenue at 6:50 a.m. Friday when a car driven by Ralph W. Merritt, 57, of 607 Eastern Ave., failed to see Sharp in time and brushed against him. Sharp sustained contusions of the left knee and a scalp laceration. Police stated he declined treatment and asked to be taken home but officials at Fayette Memorial Hospital reported Sharp did seek treatment later on and was released.

Police investigated a second traffic mishap, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported three accidents and the Ohio Highway Patrol cited a driver for a traffic infraction after he was involved in a rear-end collision.

A car driven by Elsa T. Woodmansee, 49, of 232 E. Market St., and a truck driven by John M. Taylor, 49, Monroe, Ky., collided at 1:39 p.m. Thursday on North Street near the E. Market Street intersection. Police explained Taylor was stopped looking at a road map and Ms. Woodmansee was backing from her residential driveway. Damage to her auto was moderate and no one was injured.

A car driven by Richard R. Meyer, 15, Columbus, failed to stop for the stop sign at the intersection of the U.S. 35 bypass east access road and U.S. 22, traveled 185 feet across the four lanes of U.S. 22, across the two lanes of old U.S. 35, off the roadway and onto the traffic island where Meyer struck a fire hydrant, shearing it off at ground level and then traveled 47 feet into a parking lot before stopping. His auto was severely damaged, but he was uninjured. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies cited Meyer for reckless operation and no driver's license.

An auto owned by the Washington Leasing Corp., 759 High St., was abandoned after its unidentified driver traveled off the right side of CCC Highway-E, two-tenths of a mile north of Post Road, striking a mailbox owned by Allen Pollock, 8847 CCC Highway-E, a culvert and four rods of fence belonging to Oscar Parks, 1472 U.S. 35-SE. Sheriff's deputies stated the auto traveled 315 feet in the ditch before it caught fire. The Bloomingburg Fire Department was alerted and subdued the blaze which also ignited the grass under the vehicle and started to spread. The auto was severely damaged and deputies are seeking the driver responsible.

A car driven by Paul W. McCallister, 21, of 128 W. Elm St., failed to negotiate a right curve on Row-Ging Road, four-tenths of a mile east of Ohio 41-S and struck a fence belonging to Howard D. Wright, 639 Albin Ave. McCallister was cited by sheriff's deputies for failing to drive on the right half of the roadway. Damage to McCallister's auto was minor.

A rear-end collision between a semi-truck and a car occurred at 6:30 p.m. Thursday on I-71 north of the U.S. 35 intersection, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today. The auto, driven by William P. Fisher, 24, Salem, struck the truck driven by Emil J. Lenc, 30, Maple Heights. Fisher took his eyes off the road, according to state patrolmen. He was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead and driving while under license suspension. Neither driver was injured.

Sponsor campout at Indian Lake

A cold front extending southwest from a low north of the Great Lakes was expected to move southeastward across Ohio today, lowering temperatures and bringing a chance of light rain.

Mostly cloudy skies prevailed overnight with morning temperatures ranging from the 40s north to the low 50s extreme south. Temperatures this afternoon were forecast to remain in the 40s to the low 50s.

There is a chance of snow flurries northeast tonight with lows in the 20s and low 30s. A high pressure system over the Dakotas is expected to move eastward into Ohio late tonight.

Jobless claims rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Initial claims for unemployment benefits in the state increased for the second consecutive week at the beginning of the month, the Bureau of Employment Services said Thursday.

The bureau said 22,580 persons made applications for unemployment under state and federal programs for the week ending Feb. 7. That compares to 21,439 for the week ending Jan. 31.

Layoffs in the steel, automotive and construction industries resulted in a 5.4 per cent increase in initial unemployment benefit claims last week in Ohio, compared with the previous week, the OBES reported.

In February 1975, initial claims for an average week were 37,169.

Money stolen in burglary

Approximately $200 in small bills and $10 in change was stolen from the Rocking Chair Inn, 428 Wilson St., between midnight, and 6:47 a.m. Friday.

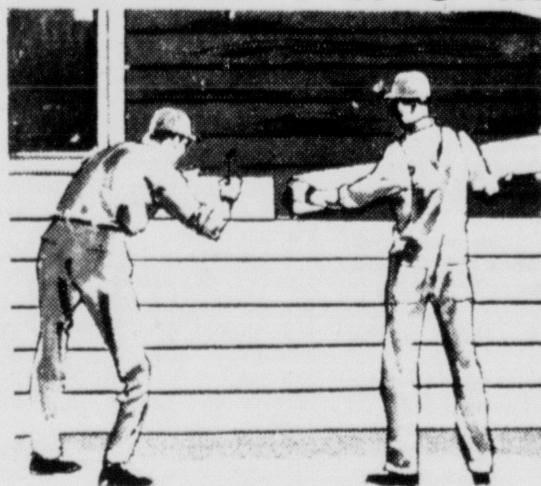

Washington C. H. police said the establishment was entered by removing a screen from the men's restroom window opening and once inside the cash register, air hockey machine, bowling machine, juke box and cigarette machine were pried open and the money removed. Investigation is continuing.

A 16-ounce claw hammer and a hand saw were stolen from an unlocked tool box on a pickup truck belonging to Wilbur Wilson, sometime between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday while the truck was parked at the rear of Wilson's 428 Gibbs Ave. residence. Police estimated the loss at $20.

Becky Pumbel, 20, of 605 Washington Ave., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital at 2:30 a.m. Friday, Washington C. H. police reported. She stated she had been watching television at her home when she began to feel sick to her stomach and dizzy. Ms. Pumbel was reported treated and released by hospital officials.

Circleville set to corral 2nd straight SCOL cage crown

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Circleville can wrap up the South Central Ohio League basketball title tonight with a win over Madison Plains or a loss by Washington C. H. The Blue Lions pay Hillsboro a visit.

Miami Trace which is now officially out of the running takes on winless Unioto and Wilmington will visit Greenfield McClain.

MADISON PLAINS AT CIRCLEVILLE
Although some have come close, the Golden Eagles have been the only team to beat Circleville this year.

The Tigers have been pulling out some tight ball games lately. After edging Miami trace last Saturday, they went into three overtimes to beat Hillsboro Tuesday.

With two SCOL games remaining, Circleville needs to win just one to take its second undisputed league title in a row. Tonight's contest would appear to be the easy one for the Tigers, because a loss could make next Friday's game at Washington C. H. a title determining contest.

Madison Plains first win over the

| | League | Overall |
|------------------|--------|---------|
| Circleville | 11-1 | 14-1 |
| Washington C. H. | 9-3 | 11-4 |
| Miami Trace | 7-5 | 7-9 |
| Madison Plains | 6-5 | 9-6 |
| Wilmington | 6-6 | 7-8 |
| Greenfield | 5-7 | 8-8 |
| Hillsboro | 3-8 | 6-8 |
| Unioto | 0-12 | 0-15 |

Tigers was at home where the Golden Eagles have been extremely tough losing only once this season. However, tonight's game is at Circleville, and the Golden Eagles have been having problems on the road.

WASHINGTON C.H. AT HILLSBORO
The Indians have been playing fine basketball lately, which is evident by recent two-point losses to both Miami Trace and Circleville.

The Blue Lions, who will be without guard Chuck Byrd due to academic reasons, still have a shot at a tie for the SCOL title. They need a win, and wins have been coming easily lately.

Hillsboro has a potent-scoring frontline with two of the league's top scorers in Tim Fuller and Rick Seeling, but Washington C. H. has a strong frontline of its own.

It all appears to add up to a slim Blue Lion victory.

MIAMI TRACE AT UNIOTO

The Panthers will be without seniors Allan Conner and Gary English again tonight, but this time they won't be needed. The Shermans are not likely to break out of their 15-game losing streak on the Panthers' homecourt.

Unioto has been putting more points on the scoreboard recently, and the Shermans will need plenty tonight.

It looks to be a Miami Trace walk-away.

WILMINGTON AT GREENFIELD

Both teams, which were early league contenders, have fallen on hard times of late. They both now own losing records.

Despite the mediocre season marks, the teams are evenly matched promising a tight and exciting game.

MAC leaders still undefeated

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo tries Saturday night what 19 others have failed at this season, beat Western Michigan on the basketball floor.

If the Rockets are to succeed in upsetting the nation's 15th ranked power, Toledo must hold its own in rebounding.

"That's where the great discrepancy between the two teams is. There isn't a great deal of difference otherwise. We've got to come up with a tremendous rebounding effort," said Toledo Coach Bob Nichols.

Western Michigan, 10-0 in the MAC, needs a second victory over the Rockets this season to keep its sole Mid-American Conference lead. Miami, one game back at 9-1, plays at lastplace Northern Illinois Saturday afternoon.

In other MAC games Saturday, Ball State (3-7) plays at Kent State (5-4) and Central Michigan (4-6) at Eastern Michigan (1-9) in the afternoon and Ohio University (5-4) at Bowling Green (4-6) at night.

Nichols concedes an 87-86 double overtime loss, settled on a technical foul with three seconds left, damaged his players mentally as well as dropping the Rockets three games off the pace.

"I'm sure our players will bounce back. The first time against Miami we lost a 19-point lead, then played very well at Western Michigan," he recalled.

The Rockets still lost 78-73 to the Broncos. "They came up with the key plays when they needed them," said the Toledo coach.

So why is Western Michigan off to the best start in the history of MAC basketball?

"They do a real good job of not beating themselves. They're very solid. They play good defense. They take only good shots. And four of them have played together four years," replied Nichols.

Western Michigan, winning with splendid balance, will be bidding for its ninth straight road victory over conference opposition. On the other hand, Toledo has not lost in seven home appearances this season.

Miami is expected to keep pace in the MAC race at Northern Illinois, suddenly revived after its winning its first conference game 79-77 at Ball State Wednesday night.

The Huskies also have the conference's No. 1 scorer, Matt Hicks, back in the lineup. Hicks sat out the team's loss at Ohio University last week. The 6-foot-4 star is averaging more than 24 points.

Elsewhere on the Ohio college scene Saturday, crippled Ohio State shoots for revenge at Purdue in the Big Ten. The Boilermakers beat the Buckeyes 84-80 earlier in Columbus.

Ohio State will be playing without its 6-10 center, Craig Taylor, hospitalized with back spasms. Rick Smith, a 6-6 freshman, will take Taylor's place.

In major independent activity, 13th-ranked Cincinnati (17-3) entertains St. Louis and Detroit is at Xavier (10-9). Dayton is idle.

In the Ohio Conference, Northern Division pacesetter Ohio Northern plays a nonleague game at Muskingum. The Southern Division's coleaders, Wittenberg and Otterbein, are busy in the conference, the Tigers entertaining Capital and the Otters visiting Denison.

Tiffin already has wrapped up the Mid-Ohio crown, its first conference championship ever.

Earlham can clinch the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference title by winning over visiting Bluffton. Earlham (11-1) is three games ahead of second-place Defiance (10-4) in the loss column.

Hiram, with a 9-0 record, has opened up a two-game lead over Allegheny in the Presidents' Conference. The leading Terriers play at Bethany (3-7).

Marcis, Waltrip win Daytona qualifiers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "I guess you've got two cheaters in Victory Lane," Dave Marcis quipped after he and Darrell Waltrip won a pair of 125-mile qualifying races for Sunday's $350,000 Daytona 500 stock car classic.

Those two young rising stars of National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing Grand National racing were set down for rules violations after posting some of the fastest times in pole position qualifying last Sunday.

Officials ruled that the cars of Marcis, Waltrip, A.J. Foyt and Bruce Hill were speeded up by "non-approved" equipment. They had to make changes, requalify and start back in the pack for the 125-milers Thursday.

"It didn't hurt Dave and me much as it turned out," Waltrip said. "We just lost a position or two for Sunday. Justice will prevail, and I guess it did."

Foyt, whose Chevrolet developed mechanical trouble and lasted only nine laps, will start in 31st place. As fastest on Sunday, at 187.477 miles per hour, he would have been on the pole and $5,000 richer if his speed had not been disallowed.

Hill's Chevrolet made only four laps in the qualifier and he'll start 33rd.

The Marcis Dodge and Waltrip Chevrolet will start in the second row behind new faces Ramo Stott and Terry Ryan in a pair of Chevrolets. Stott and Ryan, whose cars were legal, inherited the inside and outside pole because of the three disallowed speeds.

Stott's car malfunctioned at the start of the first 125-miler and made only 35 of the 50 laps. Ryan was competitive and finished third behind Waltrip and Richard Petty's Dodge in the second qualifying event.

Speed Weeks attention turned today to the windup of the International Race of Champions series with Foyt favored to take the $50,000 winner's prize. After three previous races in Michigan and California, Foyt leads the nine top drivers chosen from Formula 1, NASCAR and Indianapolis type cars.

Foyt, with 31 points, needed only to finish sixth or better to win the series. Bobby Allison with 25 points and Mario Andretti with 23 are the only ones who could beat him.

A 200-mile race around the 3.84-mile road course for NASCAR modified stock cars also was on today's program. A 300-mile event for NASCAR Late Model Sportsman stock cars will be run Saturday as a buildup for Sunday's richest stock car race ever run.

A favorable weather forecast is expected to draw more than 110,000 for Sunday's events. Nearly 60,000 were on hand for Thursday's qualifying races.

Hillsboro downs Middle Schoolers

Hillsboro took two basketball contests from the Washington C. H. Middle School teams Thursday.

The junior Indians won the eighth grade game, 57-41, and the seventh grade contest, 52-33.

Tom Shields paced the Middle School eighth graders in the loss with 14 points. Clark Lee and John Belles scored eight and seven points respectively.

Herbie Carson tossed in 18 points in the seventh grade game and Jerry Mount added seven.

Washington C. H.'s next game is slated for Thursday at Circleville.

Ricky Bell of Southern Cal averaged 5.3 yards per carry in gaining 1,875 yards during the 1975 college football season.

Frosh tourney, wrestling on tap at Trace

Miami Trace High School will have a busy sports schedule Saturday.

The South Central Ohio League freshmen tournament will begin at noon Saturday in the Panther gymnasium.

Seven of the league's eight schools are entered in the tournament. Unioto has decided not to participate.

The host Panthers will take on Greenfield McClain to open the tournament's first round. Washington C. H. and Madison Plains will meet in the second game Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Hillsboro and Circleville are slated to meet in a 3 p.m. contest. Top-seeded Wilmington drew the first-round bye.

The tournament's second round will be played Tuesday at 5 p.m. and the consolation and final round is slated for 5 p.m. Thursday.

Also on Saturday, the Panther wrestling team will travel to Chillicothe for a triple-dual meet. Miami Trace will wrestle teams from Athens, Chillicothe and Ironton.

The first dual match is slated for noon with the second scheduled for 2 p.m. and the final at 6 p.m.

Panther girls top Westfall

The Miami Trace girls varsity broke a 22-22 tie going into the final period and breezed to a 33-27 win over Westfall Thursday night.

Debbie Eddleman led the Panthers with 10 points while Sally Gaylord and Freda Swaney added eight points apiece.

The Miami Trace reserve team didn't fare as well as the varsity. A Westfall freethrow in the final three seconds gave Miami Trace a 14-13 loss.

Miami Trace visits Washington C.H. in the girls next game which is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 23.

J.C. Snead leads San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "You might say," observed broadly-grinning J.C. Snead, "it was a matter of luck."

The luck — which led to a seven-under-par 65 and the first-round lead in the $180,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament — made its appearance moments after Snead plucked a four-leaf clover out of the soggy turf and stuck it in his pocket.

"Now," cautioned the mockserious Snead, "it ain't that I'm superstitious or anything like that. But if I keep it in my pocket I might lose it. I think I'll eat it. That way it can't get away."

Immediately after finding the lucky clover Thursday, Snead saved par from a terrible lie in the bunker — "I had no shot at all; I was looking at six," he said — missed by a scant inch of holing another sand shot on the next hole and then dropped a 148-yard eight iron shot for an eagle two on the next hole.

"That's the first time I've ever holed out a full shot on the tour," he said, grinned again and added: "Luck."

The group at 67 included Hale Irwin, Bob Dickson, Mike Morley and Tom Kite.

Morley, Kite and Dickson played the tougher, 7,047-yard north course at the Torrey Pines Country Club. The rest of the leaders were at the 6,667-yard south course. The players shift courses for the second round, then play the final two rounds exclusively on the south.

Scores were exceptionally low in the bright sunshine that brought relief from a week-long storm. The courses, deluged with more than five inches of rain in the last seven days, were still wet and heavy and dotted with puddles

Eber holds on to first in MT loop

Eber and Bloomingburg came away with wins in Thursday's Miami Trace Junior High basketball league action. The wins left Eber in first place with a perfect 6-0 mark and Bloomingburg in second at 5-1.

Scott Grooms poured in 22 points to pace Eber to a 42-34 win over New Holland. Bill Horney had 19 points for the losers.

In the other contest, Todd Delay kept up his high-scoring act with 19 points and Randy Lewis added 10 to give Bloomingburg a 40-32 win over Wayne. Robbie James scored 12 points for Wayne.

Bruins bomb Washington State

UCLA 'starting to peak'

By The Associated Press

Here's bad — and familiar — news for seven teams in the Pacific-8: "We're starting to peak," said Gene Bartow.

George Raveling said, "The people who have been criticizing Gene Bartow and the Bruins are going to have to eat crow when the season is done."

Raveling had just watched Bartow's UCLA Bruins dismantle his Washington State basketball team 104-78 Thursday night, and he was duly impressed.

So was Bartow, who frequently this season has shown displeasure with the play of his sixth-ranked Bruins, who topped their record to 18-3.

"We played our best 10 minutes of the year in the first half," Bartow said after the Bruins had built their conference-leading mark to 7-1.

Marques Johnson, who scored 19 points to lead the Bruins against Washington State, echoed his coach's comments.

"Since the Notre Dame and USC games we've played very well," Johnson remarked, "and I knew it would come."

The Bruins used a balanced scoring attack to whip the Cougars, with Andre McCarter chipping in 13 points, and Richard Washington and Gavin Smith 12 each.

The ninth-ranked Washington Huskies, who meet the Bruins in Pauley Pavilion Saturday afternoon, lurk just a game back of UCLA in the Pac-8 standings, and have an impressive 19-2 record in all games.

Thursday night, Washington bombed hapless Southern Cal, which has yet to win a conference game, 93-75.

Seven-foot center James Edwards poured in 20 points to spark the Washington victory, and teammates Kim Stewart and Ken Lombard added 15 points each.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Al Weston and Joe Whelton combined for 50 points to lead the University of Connecticut to an 86-79 victory over Lafayette in the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. In the second game, South Carolina whipped Fordham 75-65 as Jackie Gilloon keyed an 11-point run at the start of the second half.

Ken Harris scored the winning three-point play with 26 seconds remaining, and Drake snapped a seven-game losing streak by defeating Bradley 96-94 in Missouri Valley Conference action.

Edmond Lawrence scored six of his 19 points in the second overtime period to give McNeese State an 87-78 Southland Conference victory over Arkansas State.

Mike Glenn scored 19 points to lead Southern Illinois to a 66-57 Missouri Valley Conference victory over West Texas State. The victory tied SIU for the MVC lead with Wichita State.

Reds to swing another deal?

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Sparky Anderson says the World Champion Cincinnati Reds will probably swing at least one more trade before the season starts, but adds "we're not going to give up any front line players."

The Reds have mainly moved to bolster their bench, acquiring veterans Bob Bailey from Montreal and Mike Lum from Atlanta.

"I would think something else will happen," said Anderson, who directed the Reds to a club record 108 victories in 1975 and a stunning 20-game division margin.

"I don't speak for Bob Howsam (Reds president and general manager), but it doesn't look like anything major. He's made up his mind that he finally has what he's built for and wants to go with it for a while."

Cincinnati gave up veteran relief pitcher Clay Carroll, sometimes starter Clay Kirby and reserve infielder Darrel Chaney in off-season deals.

Anderson said the trades "give us without a doubt the best bench we've ever had. Our front line is the best eight men in either league."

"I think now our bench is as good as anybody has in baseball and that's the thing over the years we never had. We went from such a dropoff from our first eight or bench. Now we're on an even keel."

He said 33-year-old Bailey, who will be entering his 15th big league season, is "the one that's really going to help us. We needed that one righthanded power hitter on the bench. And a guy also that when we want to give Cesar Geronimo a breather we can move George Foster to center field and put Bailey in left."

"I kind of lick my chops a little bit when I think of Johnny Bench, Tony Perez, Bailey and Foster — four guys in a row — against lefthanders. Every one of them are capable of reaching the fence and they're all good hitters. I don't think lefthanders are going to enjoy too much success against us," said Anderson.

Five ink pacts with Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — The World Champion Cincinnati Reds reported that five players have signed 1976 contracts.

Three of the signers were players who came to the in trades over the winter.

They are: Bob Bailey, an outfielder obtained from the Montreal Expos, expected to be used as a right hand pinch hitter. Bailey, 33, hit .270 with five home runs and 30 runs batted in in 36 games last season.

Mike Lum, 30, a left hand hitter who had a .228 average with eight homers and 36 RBIs last season for Atlanta. He came from the Braves in the trade for infielder Darrel Chaney.

Rookie Jeff Sovern, 24, came to Cincinnati from the Chicago White Sox Denver farm team for relief hurler Clay Carroll. Sovern hit .293 with 17 homers and 65 RBI in the minors.

Veterans signed Thursday were Jack Billingham, 32, who slipped to a 15-10 record last season after winning 19 games in the previous two, and Merv Rettenmund, who hit .229 as a pinch hitter and outfielder.

Red Viking wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Red Viking claimed its first victory in four starts this year with a half-length triumph in the featured conditioned pace at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night.

only $16 MILLION.

That was quite a deal. Even in 1848.

Only problem was: how would you raise $16 million?

Well, thanks to people taking stock in America, that problem was no problem. The government simply offered 20-year, six-percent Treasury Notes to the public.

The response was overwhelming.

Well, today's U.S. Savings Bonds are even more attractive. A full 6% at only 5 years' maturity.

So join in America's Bicentennial Celebration by buying U.S. Savings Bonds where you work or bank.

It's a better deal than ever.

New U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Treating the Irritable Colon

Are any special foods the cause of spastic colitis?

Miss R. M., Ohio

Dear Miss M.:

I must assume that the diagnosis of spastic colitis was made by your doctor rather than by you or a friend.

Far too often, the term "spastic colon" is a self-diagnosis that has no validity. It is applied by many people to any form of abdominal distress or to other intestinal complaints.

Spastic colitis (mucous colitis) is a specific disorder of the large intestine. Sometimes, it is referred to as an "irritable" colon. This condition frequently occurs in people who are highly tense and anxious.

Dr. Alexander Richman, of New York City, an authority on diseases of the gastro-intestinal tract, believes that both emotional factors and physical factors induce and maintain long-lasting symptoms of spastic colitis.

Poor bowel habits, lack of moderation in the use of alcohol and tobacco, and dietary indiscretions are the major physical causes of spastic colitis.

Chronic fatigue or the abuse of laxatives and enemas may also play a role in the establishment of this disorder.

Generally, a bland diet is beneficial. Raw vegetables and raw fruits should usually be avoided. Milk, nuts and chocolate may produce symptoms. Special diets should be prepared for each individual. Close coordination between the patient and the doctor can, by trial and error, establish the ideal diet to free the patient of the symptoms of "irritable" colon and help return the colon to normal health.

I have a large hole in the wall between both sides of my nose. My doctor does not want to try to fix it. Could there be a special reason that he is not telling me about?

Mr. T. T., Wash.

Dear Mr. T.:

The nasal septum is the wall that separates one side of the nose from the other. Sometimes, following surgery, the perforation of this septum occurs.

Perforations can also be due to other reasons. Chronic nose-picking can cause ulceration and then perforation.

Unfortunately, surgery for the repair of a perforated septum has not been generally successful. A number of plastic repairs have been tried, but with only moderate success.

It may be that your doctor believes that the chances are small that your particular problem would be solved by an operation.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism - A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 578, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Test Your Dummy Play

1. It looks as though you must choose whether to take a spade or a heart finesse - both even money shots - but actually your chances are much better than that.

Cash the ace of spades at trick three, ruff a spade, then play the A-K of clubs. If North follows suit or discards, you put him on lead with a trump.

If he now returns the king of spades or a heart, you're out of the woods, so let's say he returns a low spade. You hopefully play the queen from dummy, but even if South shows up with the king you still have a heart finesse to fall back on.

The effect of this method of play is that you make the slam if North has the king of spades or if South has the king of hearts - roughly a 3 to 1 shot in your favor. This obviously gives you a better chance than simply relying on one finesse or the other.

2. You'd like to take two spade finesses and also play a club to the king, hoping to find South with the ace of clubs and a spade honor. But there are only two entries to dummy and you want to lead from dummy three times.

To give yourself the best chance, ruff the diamond and play a heart to the eight. Then try the first finesse - a low spade to the jack. Assuming it loses to an honor and a diamond comes back, ruff it and play a heart to the queen.

Now lead the ten of spades and finesse again. If this succeeds, you are still in dummy and can play a club to the king. If the cards are favorably placed, you make the contract. It is essential to lead a low spade, not the ten, the first time you are in dummy.

Doonesbury strip blank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Readers of two Ohio newspapers will have to wait until Monday to follow the cartoon strip "Doonesbury," which has been dropped until an episode dealing with homosexuality is concluded. "The subject matter is inappropriate," said Charles Egger, editor of the Columbus Citizen-Journal. "The comic page is to entertain. Doonesbury deals in political satire and there is too much social content."

Thomas L. Boardman, editor of the Cleveland Press, said, "The subject of homosexuality is one of the most important issues facing our society today and it deserves treatment. We are not shying away from it but we do not believe that it is proper for the comic page."

Both newspapers reported receiving a flood of reader reaction by mail and telephone. Both offered copies of the deleted comic strip to readers. The Citizen-Journal reported nearly 2,000 copies of the omitted panels had been picked up by readers at its public service desk by Thursday night. The Press said more than 3,500 copies of the strips were given or mailed to requesting readers.

Mahoney to start new real estate firm here

Realtor Bart Mahoney has left the firm of F.J. Weade and Associates to begin an independent real estate agency in Washington C.H.

Having had his license transferred from the corporate holding to his own name and after having received his broker's office, Mahoney will conduct business from his home at 724 Yeoman Street while seeking suitable office space. His wife Dorothy will assist by taking calls in his absence.

Mahoney said his association with Weade, Inc., has been excellent and the decision to leave was difficult. He added that his personal relationship with Frank Weade has been very close, but he felt the need to try his own agency.

A son Danny, who lives at home, is currently enrolled at Franklin University, Columbus, preparing to obtain a real estate salesman's license. The younger Mahoney plans to join his father who is a certified broker as soon as possible.

The Mahoneys have two other children, both of whom are married. Bart Jr., resides in Columbus, and their daughter, Mrs. Randy (Paddy) Lisk, lives in Lexington, Ky.

A member of the Fayette County Board of Realtors, Mahoney has been a Washington C.H. resident for the past 22 years. He served on the board's executive committee last year and is a member of the national and Ohio associations of real estate boards.

Mahoney said he has thoroughly enjoyed the friendships created during his association with Weade and hopes to continue serving some of his former clients in the future.

He has held a real estate salesman's license since 1964 and joined Weade in 1971. Prior to that time he was employed as an explosives salesman and technical advisor for 17 years.

Active in civic affairs, Mahoney is president of the Fayette County Cancer Society, and a member of the Washington C.H. Lions Club, the American Legion, the Elks Lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Name assistant lottery chief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Evelyn M. Schrenk has succeeded James Dickerson as deputy director of the Ohio Lottery.

Mrs. Schrenk, who was approved for the post Thursday by the Ohio Lottery Commission, is a member of the Cleveland Civil Service Commission and a former vice chairman of the Cuyahoga County Republican Party.

Dickerson resigned last September to unsuccessfully run in the Cleveland mayoral primary.

Lottery Executive Director Gerald J. Patronite said Mrs. Schrenk probably will be given charge of day-to-day operations while he spends more time on policy matters. She will be paid $25,500 a year.

Southern bill found on Lincoln

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham Lincoln was carrying a Confederate $5 bill the night he was shot at Ford's Theater, but no one knows why.

The contents of his pockets that night were disclosed Thursday during ceremonies marking the 167th anniversary of his birth.

Librarian of Congress Daniel J. Boorstin suggested tongue-in-cheek that perhaps the martyred president was carrying it "as insurance in case the war went the other way."

President Ford laid a wreath at the Lincoln Memorial before a crowd of about 300. He said Lincoln "saw the political system created by the Constitution as a definitive answer to the ancient debate about the ability of man to govern himself in freedom."

Ford said the nation honors Lincoln "for the force of his faith in America and in the people" at a time when the worth of the federal government is being questioned.

The $5 Confederate bill, issued in Richmond, Va., on Feb. 17, 1864, was among a collection of items which an unknown person removed from Lincoln's pockets after he was shot at the theater on the night of April 14, 1865. He died the following morning.

Extra track to cost $176 million

ConRail may cost more

WASHINGTON (AP) — The failure of two railroad companies to purchase 2,000 miles of track may force the taxpayers to supply another $176 million in funding for the government-backed ConRail system.

The U.S. Rail Association, the agency overseeing the reorganization of seven financially ailing Northeastern railroads, announced Thursday that the 2,000 miles of track it planned to sell to the Chessie System and Southern Railway will instead be included in ConRail.

That stretches ConRail routes to more than 17,000 miles and adds new rehabilitation and maintenance costs to the quasigovernment corporation.

But inclusion of the track also reduces the amount of competition ConRail will face in the Northeast and Midwest regions where it will operate and thereby increases the corporation's chances of making a profit, USRA said.

The last-minute switch in ConRail's route structure occurred because the Chessie and Southern were unable to work out labor agreements with employees of the rail lines they were to buy.

The purchase officially died at midnight Wednesday when the time limit given the carriers to make the arrangements expired.

The addition to 2,000 miles of track — 360 miles of which are unprofitable and must be subsidized by local-federal funds or abandoned — will increase the need for government funding of ConRail from $1.85 billion to $2.026 billion, USRA said.

Congress already has passed and President Ford has signed a bill authorizing a government investment of $1.85 billion, and establishing a $250 million contingency fund.

USRA noted the new price tag would mean only about $74 million would be left in the contingency fund to handle emergencies. USRA President James Hagen said the association was reviewing the margin of safety required for ConRail and would announce later if it needs more money.

USRA planned to sell most of the lines now owned by the Erie Lackawanna and Reading railroads to the Chessie for routes through Pennsylvania and into New York state. It planned to sell the Penn Central lines on the Delmarva peninsula — the land area that contains Delaware and parts of Maryland and Virginia — to Southern.

Although the new ConRail system will require more money initially, it has a better chance of making a profit quickly, said Hagen. He said USRA projections indicate the new system will lose $359 million in 1976 but will make a profit of $151 million in 1979.

Hagen said USRA still hopes to have ConRail operating by April 1, but admitted the last-minute route changes would require additional work to meet that date.

Although both USRA's major sale attempts fell through, 65 minor purchases of properties owned by the seven ailing carriers were made by solvent private carriers in the Northeast and Midwest.

The seven ailing railroads to be included in ConRail are the Penn Central, the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, the Lehigh and Hudson River and the Ann Arbor.

Sal Mineo slain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sal Mineo, known as "The Switchblade Kid" for his many film roles as a teenage tough, has been stabbed to death outside his Hollywood apartment house, authorities said.

Witnesses told police they heard screams and saw a man with long, blond hair running from the alley where Mineo was killed Thursday night.

Neighbors found the 37-year-old actor

lying face-up in a pool of blood about 20 feet from a parking area behind his apartment, police said. He had been stabbed in the chest.

Bill Jones, a neighbor in the moderately expensive apartments near the Sunset Strip, said, "We heard about three yells. The last yell was 'Help.' We rushed out and saw Sal lying face-up, breathing really hard."

"He was like in a daze, trying to breathe. He didn't say anything."

Another neighbor, Mary Chance, 21, said, "It was too quiet. Then all of a sudden those screams, we heard those screams."

Neighbors said Mineo was quiet and kept to himself.

Authorities said the actor apparently lived alone and that his family resides in New York.

Mineo was in rehearsal for a starring role in "P.S. Your Cat Is Dead," a play scheduled to open next week at the Westwood Playhouse.

Recent television appearances by the baby-faced actor included roles in the Ellery Queen and Joe Forrester shows.

Highlights of his acting career included his portrayal of a juvenile delinquent along with James Dean in "Rebel Without a Cause" and later as an Israeli terrorist in "Exodus." Both performances won him Academy Award nominations.

As a delinquent in "Dino," he won a television Emmy in 1955.

Mythical damage suit to be presented

Hi-Y mock trial slated Saturday

The Washington C.H. Senior High School Hi-Y Club will hold its annual mock civil trial Saturday in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

This year's case involves a $520,000 damage suit against the mythical White Plains Preparatory High School and school officials.

The Hi-Y Club, under the direction of advisors George Shoemaker and Jonathon Sauer, has arranged the mock lawsuit which will be contested by club attorneys, witnesses and decided by a student jury.

The purpose of the exercise is to expose Hi-Y club members and other interested students to the workings of the U.S. judicial system. More than 25 students are expected to participate and the public is invited to attend the trial.

Washington C.H. attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann will be assisting the students in the trials, which will be heard before Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The case involves a claim that damage resulted when the high school allegedly failed to instruct the plaintiff in certain basic skills. The plaintiff claims that at the end of his four-year course at the high school he discovered he could not read or write on a level equivalent to other students in his grade. The plaintiff claims negligence and is seeking approximately $520,000 in damages.

The plaintiff is represented by student attorneys John Walker and Daniel Rodgers. They will be counseled by Kiger, who regularly appears in Fayette County Common Pleas Court trials as Fayette County's prosecuting attorney.

Defense attorneys Timothy O'Flynn and Bryan Connell will contend that the school does not assume full responsibility for the plaintiff's knowledge, and that the plaintiff is unjustified in filing suit for damages. The defense attorneys will be counseled by Roszmann, who also regularly appears in Fayette County Common Pleas Court trials as assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney and Kiger's law partner.

Judge Coffman will preside over the case, and will be assisted by Fayette County Common Pleas Court bailiff R.B. (Bud) Tharp.

The case, which will be appealed to the Ohio Model Supreme Court in April, was written by the student attorneys and the proper pre-trial legal documents have been filed with Judge Coffman. White Plains Preparatory High School is an imaginary private school in Fayette County. A student jury will determine the amount of damages, if any, to be awarded.

The judiciary program was launched several years ago by Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill.

Candidates' personal finances bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he will release some more information about his finances after President Ford issued a financial report putting his family's net worth at $329,489.

Reagan's new report could confirm what public records and other sources already show: Reagan is a millionaire and one of the wealthiest candidates this year.

After Ford made public his financial statement Thursday, Reagan said he would "have some additional information" to bring up to date the limited financial report he filed in February 1975 as required by California law for officials when they leave office. Reagan is a former two-term governor of California.

"There has been no change in my financial situation since" then, he said. He did not say when the new information will be released.

Public records show Reagan owns three pieces of California real estate with a total market value of $2,363,000. And a source close to Reagan described as "pretty accurate" a report by the San Francisco Examiner that estimated Reagan's 1975 earnings at $700,000 from lectures, his radio show and newspaper columns.

Meanwhile, Common Cause, which describes itself as the citizen's lobby, released financial data about nine Democratic candidates. The only professed millionaire among them was Gov. Milton A. Shapp of Pennsylvania, with assets estimated at $2.8 million.

Sargent Shriver listed his total assets at $135,000 as of August 31, 1975, but gave no information on his wife, the former Eunice Kennedy, who is reported to share in Kennedy family trusts.

The Ford financial statement covering the last 10 years said the President's net worth has increased by about $67,000 since he was nominated October 1973 to become vice-president. Most of that reflected increased real estate values on four homes the Fords own or in which they have an interest.

The statement also said the Fords aren't saving any money in their own names despite the President's annual salary and expense allowance. Nessen said the President has purchased U.S. Savings Bonds in the names of his four children.

The figures show the first family paid $56,296 in federal income taxes in 1974 on a taxable income of $128,472. Federal income taxes on that amount of income normally would be higher than what Ford reported. White House aides said they would seek an explanation from Ford's tax accountant but suggested that because the President's income rose by some $55,000 in 1974, he may have taken advantage of the tax law's income averaging provisions.

Ford's net worth was given at $323,489, with liabilities of $1,200 in "general bills outstanding." In 1973, when Ford was nominated for vice president, he listed assets of $261,078, with $4,700 in liabilities.

No net asset figures were discernible in reports filed by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a Democrat, in his home state. Following the reporting guidelines set by state law, the form gives amounts in terms of "over" or

"under" $1,000 or $10,000. No totals of income, assets or liabilities are given.

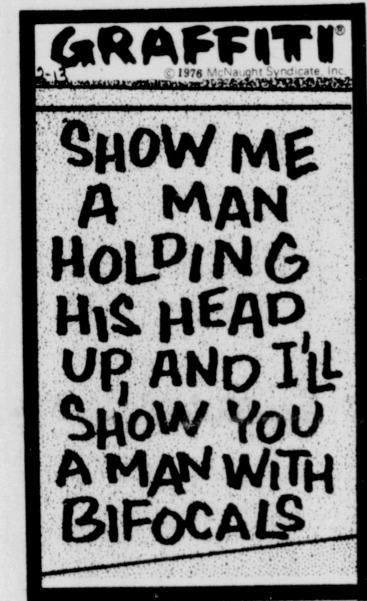

Wallace lists sources of income including royalties from Wallace Campaign Inc., of over $10,000. He has demanded that his campaign organization pay him royalties for the use of his name on buttons and pictures. The only asset listed is a home in the range of $50,000 to $250,000. Wallace also lists debts to three banks in the range between $25,000 and $50,000.

Before Reagan said he would disclose more of his financial data, Peter Kaye, spokesman for the President Ford Committee, said the question of personal financial disclosure will be a campaign issue.

"We think Reagan ought to supply financial information," Kaye said.

Shapp has disclosed estimated assets for 1974 as $2,812,096. Income in 1974 for Shapp and his wife was reported as $213,349, on which he paid $34,896 in federal income tax.

In Moody's speech at dinner here

Record-Herald Staff Writer

A brief, yet well-received speech by Columbus Mayor Tom Moody to a gathering of approximately 300 Fayette County Republican Club members highlighted the agenda of the 13th annual Lincoln Day dinner held Thursday night in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

In addition to Moody's speech, the dinner program featured the recognition of those incumbent office holders who will be seeking re-election in 1976, and other members of the party seeking election to certain county positions.

State Representative Bob McEwen presented Mrs. Catherine Hyer, retiring clerk of courts, with a resolution approved by the Ohio House of Representatives commemorating her for eight years of public service. Entertainment was provided by the South Side Church of Christ "Singing Teens." Carl Wilt served as master of ceremonies.

Moody centered his speech around the theme of Abraham Lincoln's ability to unite the populous, and how well today's Republicans are achieving this goal by recruiting new members to the party. Believing that stronger efforts should be made to seek the independent vote, he stated that, "We haven't gotten up off our seats and tried to reach them."

The 46-year-old Moody, who is in his second term as Columbus mayor, noted that even if individuals today may not possess the organizing abilities of a Lincoln, together as a group, state Republicans can achieve effective voter recruitment. Stressing that, "It is better to be right than in office," Moody added that if the Republican minority cares enough about the average constituent, then successful campaigns will follow.

Moody also praised the "depth and solidity" in the character of Fayette Countyans, stating the fact that he became familiar with these qualities when working here in his youth. He and his wife, Jean, who was also present at the dinner, spent the second night of their honeymoon in the Washington C.H. area, said Moody, who was first elected to the Columbus mayor's post in 1971 after having served as a judge in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Robert Brubaker introduced 10 candidates, including seven incumbents seeking election in the June primaries. The incumbents pursuing re-election in Fayette County are county commissioners Ray Warner and J. Herbert Perrill, Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, engineer Charles P. Wagner, prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger, recorder Mrs. Lorie Armbrust, and coroner Dr. Ralph Gebhart.

Republican Party members running for particular offices included Donald E. Conley for the county engineer position, Mrs. Anna Lois Marvin for clerk of courts, and Mrs. Jean Palmer for treasurer.

The "Singing Teens" presented a program featuring the recitation of quotes by famous Americans, a musical rendition of the Gettysburg Address, and "God Bless America" interpreted by signing for the deaf. The presentation was backdropped by a slide show of famous U.S. landmarks.

Previous to the closing ceremonies, Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, director of the Fayette County Board of Elections, explained procedures required of those party members seeking positions on the central committee.

Marijuana said no worse than alcohol or tobacco

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't fret about their health if your teen-agers are experimenting with marijuana. The majority of them are these days and it's safer than booze or cigarettes, says Dr. Robert L. DuPont of the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

DuPont confesses he smoked pot himself when he was younger and didn't know better.

Not that DuPont, a physician, is a marijuana advocate. Quite the contrary, he told newsmen Thursday. "If it was up to me I would stop use of all of these drugs (marijuana, alcohol and tobacco) at the wave of my hand," he said.

But kids will be kids, he said, and it's important for parents "not to get so uptight" if their youngsters try pot a few times. The most recent survey shows that for the first time a majority of 53 per cent of youths in the 18 to 25 age group admitted trying marijuana and 12 per cent of the 14 and 15 years olds are current users.

DuPont's advice to youths is: Don't take it up if you haven't already because it's expensive, messy and does pose some health risks.

But the hazards are not as serious as cigarettes and alcohol, he said.

"Alcohol really does kill people from overdoses," he said, "but it is virtually impossible to die from marijuana."

Cigarettes cause cancer and respiratory and heart disease, he added, but marijuana doesn't even cause bronchitis except among very heavy smokers. And the institute's fifth marijuana report to Congress contains no evidence it causes permanent biological harm, he said.

If you smoke pot and are determined to continue, DuPont said, "use as little as possible and as responsibly as possible."

Marijuana intoxication can impair your reflexes and judgment just the same as too much beer, wine or liquor and presents a "clear and present danger" to auto drivers and machinery operators, he said.

And, he added, there's still a lot scientists don't know about marijuana's effects on the body's chemistry and what they do know might be thrown out the window when more potent varieties of marijuana and hashish oil are used.

DuPont said he personally favors a $25 fine rather than jail sentences for simple possession of small amounts of marijuana. That would provide a signal that pot smoking is "prohibited behavior," he said, and "imprisonment would be reserved for dealers in the drug."

Deaths, Funerals

Jasper Brown

JAMESTOWN — Jasper Brown, 62, of Jamestown, was pronounced dead on arrival at 3 p.m. Thursday at Fayette County Memorial Hospital, Washington C.H., after suffering an apparent heart attack in his home. He had been in failing health for the past 18 years.

Born in Lynchburg, Mr. Brown was a retired baker and a member of the Jamestown Church of Christ.

He is survived by his wife, the former Cleo Rogers, whom he married in 1937; a son, Fred, of Jamestown; three daughters, Mrs. Charles (Joyce) Clark, of Jamestown, Mrs. David (Beverly) Brents, of New Carlisle, and Mrs. Jim (Linda) McCoy, of Xenia; six grand-children; a brother, Russell Brown, of Xenia, and three sisters, Mrs. Eddie Schultz, residing in Arizona, Mrs. Raymond Rogers, of Dayton, and Mrs. Harry Williams, of Wilmington.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Powers Funeral Home, Jamestown. Burial will be in Jamestown Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 to 5 and 7 until 9 p.m. Saturday.

State 'personal days' backed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State and county employees could take two days a year for personal leave under a measure approved 85-5 by the House Thursday.

Sponsoring Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, said employees could take time off for such things as religious holidays or to attend the funeral of someone other than an immediate family member, as well as for other private reasons.

Lehman said the bill doesn't cover school teachers or school employees, and will mean no extra cost to governmental units which will be able to deduct the two days from the currently provided 15 days a year sick leave.

Also approved by the House, before lawmakers adjourned until next Tuesday, was a Senate measure that prohibits sale of puppies less than eight weeks old except when a veterinarian certifies the animal is in stable health.

Corporate payoff probe expanding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even as the waves from an international bribery scandal involving Lockheed Aircraft spread across the globe, the government has disclosed it is investigating whether the Boeing Co. engaged in similar activities.

The Securities and Exchange Commission said Thursday it has received information that Boeing "may have made illegal payments to certain foreign government officials in connection with Boeing's foreign operations."

A spokesman for Boeing said in Seattle that the company denies any wrongdoing either in this country or abroad.

Lockheed's board of directors scheduled a meeting today in Los Angeles for discussion of disclosures of international payoffs by the firm. There were reports that two top company executives would resign.

Meanwhile, a business research group said Thursday that about 75 per cent of American companies it surveyed reported pressures to make payoffs to foreign government officials, customers and others.

The Conference Board, an independent nonprofit business research organization, said its study was made of 73 top level executives of representative business firms.

"Cited as the most commonly requested payments are kickbacks and other payoffs to customers and bribes to government officials to overcome red tape," the report said. It said the practice is most widespread in Latin America and the Middle East, with the Far East and Africa "not far behind."

The SEC said in documents filed in U.S. District Court here that Boeing and its president, M.T. Stamper, have declined to turn over information subpoenaed for the probe of possible company payoffs.

The firm asked a U.S. District Court in Seattle for an order to protect its records. The company said it fears the information might be released by the SEC to third parties. Boeing said the information is proprietary and must be protected from needless disclosure.

Judge Thomas A. Flannery ordered Boeing to appear on Feb. 20 to show cause why it has not complied with the SEC subpoena.

Lockheed and one other major aerospace company, Northrop Corp., already have admitted to making millions of dollars in payments to foreign officials and not revealing the payments in their financial statements to the SEC and the public.

Foreign payments are not, in themselves, illegal in this country but failure to mention them in financial statements is unlawful, the SEC says. Domestic political contributions by corporations are illegal.

The Japanese Foreign Ministry said in Tokyo it wants the U.S. government to provide the names of Japanese officials who allegedly received Lockheed payoffs. The firm's payoffs in Japan alone are said to total about $12 million.

A former lawyer for Lockheed in Zurich, Hubert Weisbrod, said he would cooperate fully with a Dutch government investigation into an alleged payment of $1 million to Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands.

Weisbrod said he made payments for Lockheed into Swiss bank accounts upon orders of the company but that he didn't know how the money was used.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter has disclosed his and his wife's assets as of Dec. 31, 1974, as $588,698. This includes his peanut farm and Carter's Warehouse, both in Plains, Ga.

Carter reported adjusted gross income of $97,334 for 1974 on which he paid $26,153 in federal income tax.

Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., in a statement of assets as of April 1, 1975, listed $258,000. He also reported taxable income of 1974 of $62,678 and income taxes of $14,678.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., has revealed his assets at the end of 1975 as $199,000. He says his income for the year was $54,608 and he paid federal taxes of $16,549.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., has reported assets as of May 20, 1975, as $188,775. He lists joint income for himself and his wife for 1974 as $74,608 on which $20,212 in federal income tax was paid.

Shriver, in addition to listing holdings of $135,000 as of Aug. 31, 1975, reported taxable income of $127,054 for 1974, on which $41,041 in federal taxes was paid.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., listed his net worth as $115,400 in a report required by the Washington State Public Disclosure Commission.

Stock prices move lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower in profit taking today despite the government's report that its wholesale price index showed no increase last month.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off about 2 points in the edarly going, and losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

At the opening the government reported that its wholesale price index held steady in January after seasonal adjustment.

But investors seemed preoccupied with taking some profits after the market's strong gains so far in 1976.

Albert shys away from probe help

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert is uncertain why President Ford offered to help track down the person who leaked the House intelligence committee's final report, so he isn't rushing to accept the offer.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday that Ford was offering Albert the full cooperation of the government in tracking down the source of the leak.

But an aide said Albert could not tell if Ford's offer was a simple good-faith offer or a political one. So, Albert decided to make no immediate response, the aide said.

"He decided that if the President is serious about it, he'll probably follow up personally," the aide said.

Nessen said Ford had offered Albert "all services and resources of the executive branch" to help find out who provided segments of the secret report to the weekly Village Voice, which published them.

In making the offer of assistance, Nessen said Ford believes the report was leaked by someone in Congress. Members of the House panel have suggested the CIA or the Ford administration leaked it.

Asked if Ford's offer included FBI and Internal Revenue Service agents, Nessen replied: "You need to go ask Carl Albert."

Newsman pressing Albert's office for a comment the rest of the day finally were told that Albert would have none.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, meanwhile, accused the House committee of so distorting secret information in the final report as to present over-all "a vicious lie."

Explosion damages Hearst castle

SAN SIMEON, Calif. (AP)—Patricia Hearst's parents blame "maniacs" for the $1-million-plus bombing of an ornate guest house at the fabled Hearst Castle while their daughter is on trial in San Francisco.

There were no warning calls Thursday before the blast ripped through a building which 53 tourists had passed through just three minutes earlier, authorities said.

San Luis Obispo County sheriff's deputies said there were no arrests and no suspects. The FBI was investigating phone calls to two San Francisco radio stations claiming the New World Liberation Front was responsible for the explosion here, 150 miles south of San Francisco.

The NWLF is a terrorist group that has claimed responsibility for numerous San Francisco Bay area bombings.

Deputies said at least $1 million worth of treasures were damaged in the Casa del Sol, one of three mansion-sized guest houses near the main castle. They said the extent of structural damage has not been determined.

"These people have the same mentality as those who killed Marcus Foster and kidnapped Patricia. They're nothing but a bunch of maniacs," said Randolph A. Hearst after he learned of the blast and rushed from the courtroom where his daughter is on trial on bank robbery charges.

Oakland Schools Supt. Marcus Foster was killed by the Symbionese Liberation Army, the same group that kidnapped Miss Hearst.

"It just shows the vicious, terrible people that Patty was with. It's no wonder she was terrified of them," an angry and shaken Mrs. Hearst told reporters.

There was no immediate indication that the bombing at the Shangri-la of late publishing magnate William Randolph Hearst was connected with his granddaughter's trial.

Gas cost probe asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Public Utilities commissioner has called for an investigation of the Purchased Gas Adjustment used by Ohio gas utilities.

David C. Sweet also proposed that PUCO follow its investigation with a commission rule "that would enable this commission to monitor the PGA as closely as we check the use of fuel adjustment charges used by electric utilities."

Sweet called for the investigation in the wake of controversy over the signing of a PUCO order that, in effect, permits the companies to charge the residential customers for the special emergency purchases of gas from the Southwest that were made last year for industrial and commercial consumers.

Large stockpiles close two firms

A slow consumer market and increasing inventories have temporarily closed two Washington C.H. manufacturing plants.

This 'n that

Camp Fire Girls will be selling Fund balloons from 5 to 9 p.m. tonight and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the downtown area and shopping center for the Fayette County Heart Association.

The girls participating in the project will also be earning hours toward the Ho To Se Award.

Cub Scout Pack 20 at Eastside Elementary School is sponsoring a skating party from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 18. There will be cakewalks.

Kennel club holds meeting

The Paint Valley Kennel Club met Thursday night at Anderson's Restaurant for its February dinner meeting.

Attending as guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marchant, president and vice president respectively of the Fayette County Humane Society.

The kennel club discussed tentative plans for a spring obedience course and a spring dog show.

Club members also voted to donate $200 to the humane society to defray costs of its continued work with homeless and injured animals.

Robert Schneider, club president, presided during the meeting.

The Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant U.S. 35-S, has been out of production the past week, but will resume Monday. Cudahy Foods, Inc., closed Wednesday and expects to remain closed for two or three weeks.

Armco Steel Corp. had given some 400 employees the option of taking a week's vacation or a one-week layoff. Plant personnel director Leo B. Edwards said most employees opted for the "vacation." He blamed lagging sales as the reason for the closing.

Cudahy's plant manager Tom Snyder said the cheese manufacturer has its lockers full and cannot economically obtain additional storage.

Most of the cheese products manufactured here are shipped to the East Coast, and poor weather there has produced a lull in sales. He cited short order and pizza restaurants as retailers who have suffered reduced sales because of hazardous driving conditions along the coast.

The manufacturing layoff affects some 40 Cudahy employees who will be recalled when production resumes.

"As soon as our inventory is reduced," the plant will resume manufacturing, he said.

At the moment, cheese prices are low while prices are high, Snyder added. A drop in wholesale milk prices is likely in the near future, he continued.

If the cheese manufactured cannot be stored, there is no reason for continued production, Snyder, said. When production will resume depends on what happens to the price of cheese. If retail cheese prices rise, the inventory will be reduced much more quickly, he noted.

Snyder said he hoped sufficient inventory would be shipped so that production could resume in two weeks, but if retail prices remain low, it might be three weeks before manufacturing begins again.

Firemen douse vehicle blaze

A car fire was extinguished by Washington C. H. firemen Thursday evening and a false alarm at Fayette Memorial Hospital was investigated earlier in the day.

An auto owned by Walter Fox, 1024 Willard St., caught fire at 4:54 p.m. Thursday. Firemen reported a three and a half year old boy, Ron Byrd, of 913 Forrest St., was in the car at the time of the blaze and believe he set the fire. The youth escaped without injury and damage to the auto after the fire was subdued by firemen with water was estimated at $200.

Firemen responded to a fire alarm at Fayette Memorial Hospital at 11:10 a.m. Thursday. They reported a malfunction in the alarm system. There was no fire.

NAMES AND NUMBERS that matter most are always in sight with Ohio Bell's new "Touch-A-Matic" telephone. They are on polyester film and can easily be changed with pencil, pen or typewriter. The new generation phone stores up to 31 telephone numbers and dials any one of them electronically at the touch of a single button.

New telephone with memory is introduced by Ohio Bell

"Touch-a-Matic," a telephone with a memory, is being unveiled by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. this month.

Designed for telephone users who call the same numbers frequently, this new generation phone provides both speed and simplicity when placing a call, according to Susan Link, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in Washington C. H.

The computer-age phone can be programmed to remember 31 different 15-digit numbers, any one of which can be dialed electronically at the touch of a single button.

An additional button, labeled "last number dialed," can automatically redial a number that was busy on the first try. The solid-state memory in the telephone records the last manuallydial number — a great time saving feature.

Either a local or long distance number can be recorded in the phone's memory, Mrs. Link said. And numbers can be added or changed by a simple dialing process.

A directory of pre-recorded numbers is displayed on the face of the set, eliminating the need to look up any of the frequently called numbers.

The "Touch-A-Matic" phone is slightly larger than a standard desk telephone. It is available as a six-button or single line set with either a touch-tone or rotary dial. The new phones come in beige, black, green or white.

The monthly rate for the new phone is $12, said Mrs. Link. There also is an initial charge of $35, plus the normal installation fee.

Judge nixes taste test

CLEVELAND (AP) — The jurors in a trial involving six cases of stolen whiskey felt they needed a taste of the evidence before finding William D. Harman, 37, of Cleveland guilty of receiving stolen property Thursday.

Judge Lloyd O. Brown of Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court received a note from the jury which read: "Ice and glasses, please."

Judge Brown refused the request and the trial went on without delay.

Harman was arrested Sept. 11 by FBI agents and Middleburg Heights police within hours after 79 cases of liquor were stolen from a Newark, Ohio, store. FBI agents testified they received a tip that Harman and three other men burgled the liquor store and were transporting the loot in the rented truck. They found the truck in Middleburg Heights and recovered the liquor.

Opinion And Comment

All candidates please note

An intriguing sidelight to the pre-convention drama is being played in California, whose population gives it more delegates than any other state. Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and

Edward M. Kennedy have formally declared that they do not want their names to appear on California's presidential primary ballot.

But a third person to whom the question was officially put has not yet replied, thus keeping his options open. His name: Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

THESE DAYS...By John Chamberlain

An irrepressible issue looms

The people who are against gun legislation have refined the concept of negative bullet voting (no pun intended) to a point where politicians live in fear and trembling lest they be asked their opinion about stopping the sale of arms. In 1970, by zeroing in against the "three D's" in Connecticut - the late Sen. Tom Dodd, the Rev. Joseph Duffey and Emilio Daddario - the gun people claimed they changed the complexion of state politics, sending Lowell Weicker to the U.S. Senate over both Duffey and Dodd and putting Republican Tom Meskill in the governor's office instead of the hitherto popular Daddario.

Whether the claims were exaggerated is a question: all we know for certain is that Weicker and Meskill were not anti-gun.

Bullet voting consists of making one issue the litmus test before going to the polls and voting with a fine eye to revenge. I have no means of being certain that the anti-abortion people are consciously emulating the gun people, but I am beginning to suspect they are. They recently staged a huge "right to life" demonstration in Washington, D.C., getting an enthusiastic telegram from Ronald Reagan and equivocal treatment from the White House.

They have been causing trouble for candidate Birch Bayh, who doesn't want to be pinned down on the issue. Though they did well by Jimmy Carter in Iowa, they are now chivvying the ex-governor of Georgia about an inconsistency. (Carter, to make a good showing in Iowa, said he would vote for a national statute to prohibit abortion, which conflicted with his previous stand against a constitutional amendment to change the Supreme Court's ruling on giving women free choice in the matter up to a certain point in pregnancy.)

Right to life is bound to be an issue in New Hampshire, where there is a strong French-Canadian Catholic voting bloc. If Catholics figure in the Republican primary, Reagan will do all right in avoiding a bullet vote against him, for he has explicitly endorsed the idea of a constitutional amendment to protect the unborn. But someone is sure to bring up the question of how Betty Ford feels on the issue, and Jerry Ford may find himself in something of a corner.

As for the Democrats contesting New Hampshire, they see a cloud, now no bigger than a man's hand, that could easily become a real menace. There is the surprising candidacy of Ellen Cullen McCormack, a Long Island housewife who is married to a New York policeman. Mrs. McCormack, a member of the Pro-Life Action Committee in her home community of Merrick, decided last summer to contest the Democratic primaries. She has accomplished the near-miracle of raising, at last count, $135,000 in small sums in 20 states, which means that she qualifies for $100,000 in Federal matching funds. She has visited New Hampshire once, and will go there soon again but, more important, her access to Federal matching funds will enable her backers to pay for the TV spots that will be beamed into New Hampshire in her behalf from Boston on Feb. 16 and after.

It is not to be expected that a virtual unknown can get a big vote even on a bullet issue, but the damage that Mrs. McCormack could do to wafflers on abortion in New Hampshire and elsewhere is considerable. She could be the cause of diverting votes to the major candidate who is most willing to approximate her uncompromising position on right to life.

Sargent Shriver, who ran badly among the Catholics in Iowa because he refused to endorse a constitutional amendment against abortion, will have to worry about a bullet vote against him in New Hampshire. Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall, Fred Harris and the rest will surely be put on the spot by the McCormack candidacy. Carter has the best chance of avoiding the bullet voter's wrath, but even he will have to do something about making his statements consistent.

The McCormack supporters are hoping for 5 or 6 per cent of the Democratic primary vote in New Hampshire. That will be enough, they think, to force every presidential candidate in both parties to come clean on an issue which many of them prefer to dodge.

Road work approved by agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three rural highway public transportation demonstration projects have been approved by the state Department of Transportation, director Richard D. Jackson said.

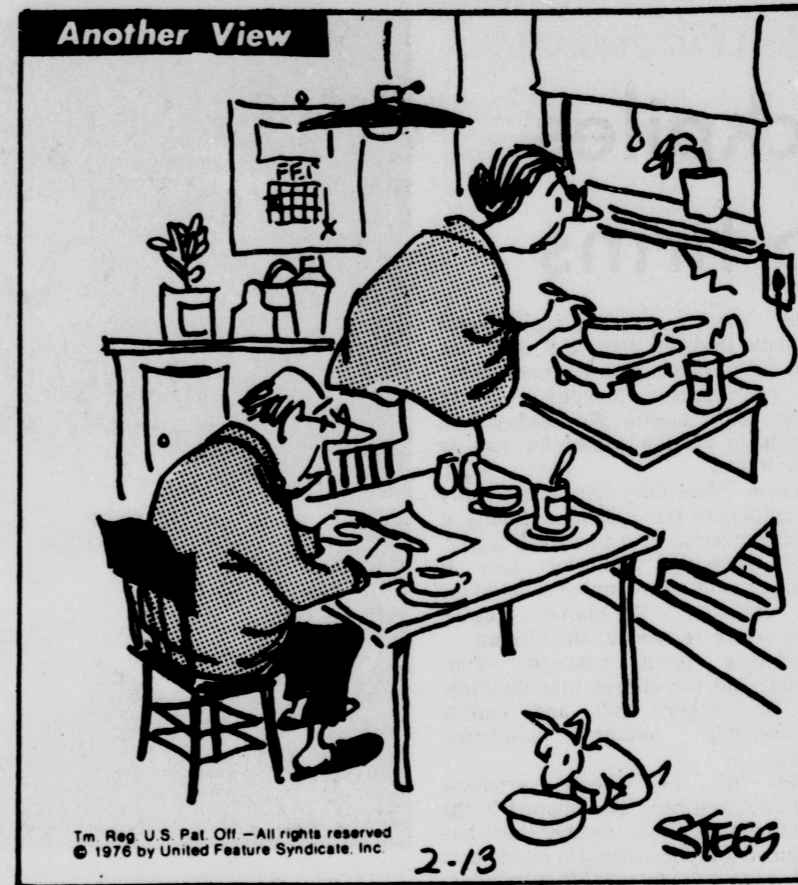

He said the projects have been tentatively selected for funding by the Federal Highway Administration.

Copies of transcripts from mid-December hearings on the projects, along with recommendations for approval, funding and early implementation of the projects, have been sent to John C. McBee, Ohio division administrator for the federal agency.

The seven-county Appalachian Regional Transit Association would receive $369,584 to help finance a three-year demonstration project designed to combine many of the present transportation programs in Athens, Hocking and Perry counties into one system. The project also would provide for expansion of service into Meigs, Jackson, Vinton and Gallia counties where public transit is nonexistent, according to Jackson. He said the system is expected to establish self-sufficiency within three years.

Clermont County would receive $256,400 for one year to help establish a county transit system and Geauga County would receive $89,148 for a two-year demonstration program to provide public transportation, the department said.

Revolutionary movements of 1830 and 1848, sending many thousands of Germans into exile, brought many of them to Ohio. In 1830, for example, only five per cent of Cincinnati residents were of German stock but within 10 years a fourth of the city population was German. Other large German colonies were established in northwestern Ohio, from Mercer and Auglaize counties to Toledo and Sandusky.

"DEAR MR. PRESIDENT, WE ARE GLAD TO KNOW THAT THE ECONOMY IS HEALTHIER AND THAT A TAX CUT IS POSSIBLE IN '79. WE WILL TRY TO HOLD OUT THAT LONG."

Ohio Perspective

'Sunshine law' proves costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's new "Sunshine Law" requiring open meetings of government bodies is causing unexpected expenses for many of the state's news media.

Government bodies which routinely notified reporters of their meetings before the law became effective now are charging reporters for the same service. One newspaper has estimated its cost so far at between $1,500 and $2,000.

Sponsors of the legislation said that was never intended, and the attorney general has ruled the charges violate the spirit of the law.

But the bills, running up to $52 a year, keep coming.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Robert Freeman, D-29 Canton, said no charge was intended. A clause allowing a charge to be assessed was inserted in committee.

The sponsor of that amendment, Sen. Thomas Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, said news media were supposed to be exempt from the charge. He said it was inserted because without a fee provision, public bodies "could have been deluged by hundreds of requests for notification — most of them frivolous."

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, in an analysis of the law issued when it became effective, ruled that "a meeting is open only in theory if the public has no knowledge of the time and place at which it is to be held ... Moreover, the cost of notification of regular meetings must be assumed by the public body."

Some suburban school districts are charging reporters up to $52 a year for notice of regular meetings, although Van Meter said his amendment was intended to cover only the actual cost of paper, envelope and postage.

Most state agencies are charging $10 a year for notice. Many provide a free notice to the Ohio Legislative Correspondents Association, however.

Paul Richards, information officer for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) said he sent letters to all news media offering regular notice for $20 a year.

He said he's had no takers. But he added the PUCO does not charge for telephone notice of special meetings, a cost which has been running between about $60 to $75 a week. About 100 news organizations have requested that service, he said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Children neglect elderly mother

DEAR ABBY: I have an elderly mother who has been in a nursing home for the last four years.

I am one of her three children. (One son and two daughters.) We all live within a 45-minute drive from the nursing home, and all of us contribute equally toward the expenses, but I am the only one who visits her. I go there every day.

My brother goes once in four months. He says, "I just can't take it. That place is so depressing!" Can you believe it? He calls Mamma on the phone maybe once a week and keeps asking her if she "needs" anything. (All she needs is for him to visit once in a while.)

My sister runs over there once a month for five minutes. She doesn't even sit down. She tells me the "smell" of that place makes her sick. How is that for an excuse?

Although Mamma gets confused once in a while, she is far from senile. I know she's hurt, but there's nothing I can do about it.

Please print this. The shoe will fit both a woman, size 6, and a man, size 10. Let them wear it!

HAD IT IN DETROIT

DEAR HAD IT: The shoe for this situation has no size. One size fits all.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem and I need help. I have been married for six years, and my husband still acts as though we have been married only a few days.

He won't keep his hands off me. We can have marital relations for an hour straight, and he is ready to go again in 15 minutes. I don't ever reach a climax.

Should my husband see a doctor, or should I get some energy pills?

MRS. A. IN KILGORE, TEX.
DEAR MRS. A.: Energy pills won't help. You need professional help.

(P.S. Too bad your husband wasn't born during Biblical times when a man could have as many wives as he could support.)

DEAR ABBY: I am an 80-year-old man who lost his wife last year. I'm in good health, but I am lonely.

I have become attracted to my widowed sister-in-law. She's my wife's younger sister. I never thought I would consider marrying again, but lately I am changing my mind because of this lady.

Is it wrong to have romantic feelings about a sister-in-law? She's 74 and a lot of fun, and she reminds me of my beloved wife.

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: When your wife died, her sister ceased being your sister-in-law. She is now as eligible as any other single woman. If the romantic feelings are mutual, proceed without guilt. Neither of you needs parental consent.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Feb. 13, the 44th day of 1976. There are 322 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1689, the English Parliament adopted a Bill of Rights. On this date:

In 1633, the Italian astronomer, Galileo, arrived in Rome and was detained by the Roman Catholic inquisition.

In 1635, the first public school in America, the Boston Public Latin School, was founded.

In 1741, Andrew Bradford of Philadelphia published the first magazine in the United States.

In 1920, the League of Nations recognized the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland.

In 1945, in World War II, the Soviets captured Budapest, Hungary, from the Germans after a 50-day siege.

In 1962, the United States rejected a Soviet proposal that 18 heads of state meet in Geneva to discuss disarmament.

Ten years ago: Vice President Hubert Humphrey reassured leaders in Thailand that the United States intended to stand firm in Southeast Asia. Five years ago: South Vietnamese troops were driving into Laos and reported seizing large stores of Communist arms and supplies.

One year ago: Turkish Cypriotes proclaimed a separate state in the Turkish-occupied northern part of Cyprus.

Today's birthdays: Former First Lady Bess Truman is 91. Opera singer Eileen Farrell is 56.

Thought for today: Reading is sometimes an ingenious device for avoiding thought — Sir Arthur Helps, English historian, 1813-1875.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, a Philadelphia member of the Second Continental Congress, James Wilson, made what may have been the first open proposal in the Congress for political separation from England.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Whether you have little or much to do, your attitude and approach to all matters will be important — from the start. Stress your good judgment and innate perceptiveness.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

When least expected, you may have to take on some extra responsibilities, but all the rewards will be worth it — IF you handle them well, and aimable.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

If you go out of your way to make changes, they should be both reasonable and in order, or you will run into difficulties. In general, stick with routine.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Look over what is planned and eliminate completely what would deter

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

In all matters and projects requiring training and practice, if you are consistent and careful, you will gain new advantages. Just one admonition: curb aggressiveness.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

It may take longer than usual to put across a proposition or a point, but you can still get much accomplished and make a good impression.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Care needed in both your budgetary and your domestic matters. Also, avoid restlessness and changeability. A day for straight-line thinking and action.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

An excellent day for both business and personal interests. Even if you have to make some compromises, it will be profitable in the long run.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may be given some extra responsibilities, but if the end results seem worthwhile, accept them — ambitiously. Curb a tendency toward restlessness.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

You may make a discovery both unexpected and profitable. Your clue lies in reading between the lines, studying the "fine print."

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Give a little extra time to matters which have been neglected, and remain flexible in your thinking; but DON'T go to extremes. Stress your inherent good sense.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Be extremely careful to discriminate between rumor and fact, not to accept hearsay as accurate information. Some deceptive trends prevail.

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by one of the zodiac's most stimulating configurations. You can excel as executive, in statesmanship, the law, the arts. The Aquarian's flair for entertainment is evident even in his home life, and all make delightful party hosts, raconteurs. Your courage, independence and generosity are outstanding. You will share your assets with others, but often demand your own way with the recipients of your bounty — and achievements.

the illustrated BIBLE

Noah's Ark

Thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons and thy wife, and thy sons' wives . . . and of every living thing . . . two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark.

— Genesis 6: 18 - 19

Many centuries passed between the time of Abel's murder and the time of Noah and many were the prophets who preached over the years. Nevertheless, the Bible tells us, man's wickedness was great and the Lord became increasingly bitter. He "repented" of His creation and resolved to wipe out the whole race and make a fresh start. Choosing Noah and his family as progenitors of the future, He gave instructions for the building of an ark which would spare them and a duo of all living creatures from the deluge which was to destroy the earth and all its inhabitants.

Ban babies from churches?

Religion Writer
"Ban the babies from church," urges an Ohio clergyman. "Bawling babies unrestrained or removed by rude parents are the greatest obstacle to the people of God hearing the Word of God since the barbarians invaded christendom in the fifth century."
But there has been a stiff outcry of rebuttal to his suggestion. He instead "picket on somebody his own size instead of innocent children and parents of them," says the Rev. James Thurman of Kenosha, Wis.
"Suffer the little children to come unto me," reminds Rose Ann Dantone of Peoria, Ill., quoting Jesus.
The seriocomic controversy was sparked by the Rev. Frank E. Fortkamp of Columbus, Ohio, in an article in U.S. Catholic, a national magazine published by the Claretian Fathers. He says it's time to stop the "infant invasion of the churches."
"In ever-new waves, they infiltrate our pews, their vocal cords strengthened by evermore potent baby formulas and miracle baby vitamins," he says. When a preacher starts his sermon, "the odds are that some ungagged, unfettered, yelling, screaming infant" will not only make it impossible for the preacher to remember what he planned to say, but impossible for anyone to hear it.

"Ban the babies!"
But a contrary chorus came from those who disagreed. It's "very im-

Pastor to give Biblical drama

The Rev. Frank Roughton, former professional actor and now an ordained United Methodist minister, will present a dramatic performance of "The Sermon on the Mount" at 7 p.m., Feb. 15, in the Sabina United Methodist Church.

Residing in Cambridge, Rev. Roughton has taught both Bible and drama, and has travelled throughout many parts of the world presenting Biblical interpretations.
The service is scheduled to last for an hour.

portant for the family to participate" as a group, including the young, says Sister Eugenia Brown of Guthrie, Okla. "Prayer and Christianity are 'caught more than taught.'"

"Fie on Father Fortkamp," says the Rev. James J. Doyle of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He said babies are "here to stay. My plan: Let's outshoot them! Let our motto be Preacher Power!"

Mrs. Roger Steidel, of North Royalton, Ohio, says "the church is God's house and God loves the children more than we'll ever know." Instead of banning babies, says Domenica Moorman of Smithtown, N.Y., "we should ban dull domilies (sermons)."

On the other hand, Father Fortkamp's sortie also had its supporters. "Bellowing babies distract the congregation," writes Vola Burakowski of Norfolk, Va. The message gets "lost in the 'din'.... I love kids, but don't think it is fair for the parents to drag all the kids along."

The Rev. William R. Mayers of Blaine, Ohio, says the sermon deserves to "be free from this commonplace distraction" by youngsters. "The efforts should be to exclude the crying little ones until ... they're church-broken."

In a statistical breakdown of reaction, the magazine found that 54 per cent consider crying babies an annoying distraction but that less than half — 46 per cent — favored an outright exclusion. Fifty per cent said parents should bring all their children to church, but the largest percentage, 57 per cent, favored provision for a "cryroom" to which to retreat when the infant decibels rise.

Youth revival schedule set

A youth revival meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. nightly from Feb. 16 through Feb. 22 in the Walnut Hill Church of Christ in Christian Union, Barger Rd., Leesburg.

The featured speaker and performer will be the Rev. Joe Jordan, a man who has been blind since birth, but who is proficient as a singer and musician. His talents in these two areas as well as his preaching merits will be offered during the meetings.

NOTICE OF BIDS
Sealed bids will be received by the Concord-Staunton Township Trustees for the following: Tractor 43 HP or more with flail mower, & sickle bar mower. Ford mower to be traded-in. Specifications can be obtained from Clyde Bower, Clerk, 2973 Miami Trace Rd., Washington C.H., Ohio. Said bids are to be opened March 8, at 8 p.m. Feb. 13, 20.

The life of Gerald R. Ford is reviewed for Progress Club

The Progress Club of Jeffersonville met in the home of Mrs. Russell Hall with Mrs. Joe Lanum assisting hostess. Mrs. John Sheeley began the meeting with "My Wish for Your Valentine." Eighteen members answered roll call by naming a hobby of a president.

Mrs. Wayne Dowler reviewed "The President," a story of the life of Gerald R. Ford, the 38th president of the United States of America. J.F. ter Horst, Ford's first press secretary, was the author of the book.

Ford has proved that success in American politics is rarely determined by time of birth, place of upbringing, family name, or private wealth. The basic requirement is the possession of certain personal attributes that are in public demand at an hour of public need. In this sense, Gerald Ford has been lucky most of his life.

President Ford was born Leslie Lynch King on July 14, 1913, but in 1915 his parents were divorced and his mother later married a paint salesman, Gerald Ford. Formal adoption papers were taken out for the young son who was renamed Gerald R. Ford Jr. Ford remembers his stepfather as a kind man and a fair man, but also as a firm man, the strongest influence of his life. Even today, he often wonders how dad would have done a certain job.

Mrs. Sheeley closed the meeting with "Father of Our Country."

During the social hour, a dessert course was served. The next meeting, Feb. 24, will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence Knecht.

Miss Wissler hostess to True Blue Class

Miss Lida Grace Wissler presented the program on various activities of the Bicentennial Year 1976, when members of the True Blue Class of Grace United Methodist Church met in her home. She had suggestions and on display reading material relative to the past as well as to the future. She also spoke of the Ohio Bicentennial conference, academic papers of Ohio women in Ohio's history, Ohio Indian people, and Blacks in Ohio history.

The Rev. Cloyce Copley gave the opening prayer and the Rev. Everard Broberg the closing prayer. Twenty members, three guests, and two teachers were present for the meeting conducted by Mrs. Mary Crone. The group voted to send $25 to the emergency fund at the church and also $25 to the Guatemala disaster fund.

Refreshments were served by Miss Wissler, Mrs. McKinley Kirk, Miss Thelma Runyon, Mrs. Chester Clay, Mrs. Donna Wagner, Mrs. William Lovell, Miss Ethel Arnold, Mrs. Anna Lee Orr, and Mrs. Emily Mossbarger.

Loyal Daughters gives donation to fountain project

Members of the Loyal Daughters of First Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Russell Knapp, with Mrs. Chan Hyer and Mrs. Beulah Chaney the assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Zoe Folis presented devotions and read "The Religion of Abraham Lincoln" and "If Got Went on Strike." Mrs. Ward Brown, president, conducted the meeting for the 15th present. Mrs. Earl Haggard was a guest.

The class will be in charge of the Aug. 22 opening exercise for Sunday School, and gave a cash donation to the Cemetery Fountain Restoration Fund of which Mr. Mac Dews is chairman.

Penny banks were brought by the members and Mrs. Esther Edwards was winner of a contest conducted by the hostess.

B'burg Methodists meeting attracts 16

The Bloomingburg United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. William Rockhold Wednesday afternoon, when 16 members joined her. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Laura Hughes and Mrs. Laura Wilson.

Mrs. Eli Craig opened the meeting with "The More One Loves," and Mrs. Wilson read Psalm 100, the poems "Can I Pray the Lord's Prayer?" "Companion." The group prayed "The Lord's Prayer."

For the program, Mrs. Hughes read "You Make the Difference" and the "Beatitudes for a Happy Home."

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Messmer, Mrs. Wayne Bloomer, Mrs. Malcolm Bloomer, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. John Gibeau, Mrs. Lawrence Garinger, Mrs. Robert Huff, Miss Florence Purcell, Mrs. Lucy Randolph, Mrs. Frank Slager, Mrs. Donald Thornton and Mrs. Willard Bloomer.

The group will meet again March 10 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Messmer.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Norman Lower of 1008 Yeoman St., has returned home from a vacation in Florida, where she visited friends in Largo and Gainesville.

'Music and the Presidents' presented by Cecilians

Mrs. Frank Creamer, president, conducted the semi-annual business meeting of the Cecilian Music Club which preceded the regular program for February. The minutes of the June business meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reported the balances in the general, scholarship, and strings funds. Members voted to make a $50 scholarship available at Miami Trace and Washington High Schools for a graduate planning to major in music. Six new members were voted on and will receive an invitation to active membership. Mrs. Creamer announced the Spring Workshop for March 12 at Hueston Woods Lodge, sponsored by the Oxford Club. The theme will be "Spirit of '76". Suggestions for National Music Week activities should be given to Mrs. Michael Campbell. Due to the number of other musical activities planned for the spring it was decided that the Choir Festival would not be held this year. Donations to the Music Camps and Scholarship Funds of the National Federation of Music Clubs were voted. Because of a conflict with the Lions Club Variety Show, the March meeting of Cecilians will be held one week later, March 16, in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Kelly. The new officers for 1976-77 are president: Mrs. Michael Campbell; vice-president: Mrs. Wayne King; recording secretary: Mrs. Robert Bachelor; reporting secretary: Mrs. Gerald Wheat; treasurer: Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse; Music librarian: Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, and historian: Mrs. Richard Stinson.

The program opened with the reading by Mrs. Creamer of some lines of a poem by James W. Johnson. It was announced that the Miami A Capella Singers will perform at Grace Methodist Church, February 22 at 4 p.m. Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Maurice Hopkins. The theme "Music and the Presidents" was presented by the Cecilian Double Trio composed of Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, Mrs. Gerald Wheat, and Miss Verna Williams with Mrs. Donald Schwaigert as accompanist and arranger. Mrs. Wheat served as chairman and narrator for the program which began with a short review of the musical interests of some of our presidents. Since hymns have played an important part in the history of the country, it was appropriate that the musical portion opened with one of the earliest American hymns, Chester, written by William Billings. Members of the club joined in singing this with Mrs. Schwaigert as accompanist.

Mrs. Wheat traced briefly the development of music in America, mentioning highlights in relation to various presidents. The Double Trio sang a medley of songs from Camelot which is frequently associated with the administration of John F. Kennedy. Marches were an early development for American ceremonial use. Mrs. Schwaigert played the President's March by Philip Phile and the Federal March by Alexander Reinagle as examples of 18th century music. Mrs. Wheat read the words of a chorus sung to George Washington at Trenton, N.J. as he traveled to New York for his first inauguration. Political songs are also connected with Presidents and the words of a campaign song from 1840, Tyler and Tippecanoe, were also read. Many of our Presidents have listened to and performed music for their own enjoyment. Mrs. Thompson sang The Wayworn Traveller, a favorite of Washington's which was often sung by Nelly Custis. Mrs. Fennig sang Beneath a Weeping Willow's Shade from the Seven Songs dedicated to George Washington in 1788 by Francis Hopkinson. Harriet Lane, niece of James Buchanan, was his White House hostess and to her Septimus Winner dedicated Listen to the Mockingbird. Alice Blue was named for Alice Roosevelt, daughter of Theodore. The Double Trio sang Mrs. Schwaigert's arrangements of Listen to the Mockingbird and Alice Blue Gown. To sum up the program of music and the Presidents the Double Trio, with Jeff Sheridan as guest soloist, presented the cantata, Ballad for Americans by John Latouche and Earl Robinson. This is the story of America - the Revolution, the move west, the Civil War, and the Machine Age. Our own Ohio President, Rutherford B. Hayes and his wife, Lucy Webb Hayes, a native of Chillicothe, always closed their White House social events with the Marine Band playing Home Sweet Home. So club members joined in singing this to close the program.

Mrs. Creamer thanked Mrs. John P. Case for her hospitality and welcomed one guest, Mrs. Kenneth Bush. Cake, coffee, and tea were served during the social hour by Mrs. Richard Stinson, chairman; Mrs. G.B. Vance, Mrs. Truman Dunn, Mrs. Lee Rowe, Miss Margaret Gibson, and Mrs. William Still.

'Between parent and child' circle topic

Circle Five of the First Presbyterian Church met in the church parlor with Mrs. Clyde Cramer and Mrs. Warren Craig as hostesses for the coffee hour preceding the meeting. Devotions were given by Mrs. Tom Rankin, using "A Young Mother's Prayer". The Mission Interpretation concerning the John Hyson School in New Mexico was given by Mrs. Richard Glass. Mrs. Larry Cruea presented the Mission Yearbook of Prayer information on Bogota, Colombia.

The Least Coin offering was received. Mrs. Hank Shaffer, so-leader, announced the carry-in dinner for the congregation on February 22 at 12:30. The Carlsons from Pakistan will be the speakers. Circle Five will be the hostess group. Members were also asked to plan ahead for the Women's Retreat at Geneva Hills on April 27 and 28. It was decided to use the study book, "Christians in Families", when the present one is completed. The study leader was unable to be present, so members participated in a group discussion of portions of the book, "Between Parent and Child". Present were Mrs. Craig, Mrs.

Cramer, Mrs. Cruea, Mrs. David Fabb, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Ralph Leeds, Mrs. Gary McMurray, Mrs. William Pool,

Mrs. Dement class hostess

Mrs. Fred DeMent was hostess to 15 members of In His Service Class of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church. Mrs. Helen Coil was in charge of the opening and read the "Personal Prayer" of Helen Steiner Rice. All repeated "The Lord's Prayer."

The discussion of a proposed bus trip to Roscoe Village was made, a committee appointed to select a luncheon place in April, and a nominating committee for a slate of officers to be voted on in June was on the agenda.

Mrs. Lillian Ervin, program chairman, read from the Book of Solomon for devotions and conducted a quiz concerning the Bicentennial.

Mrs. DeMent served a salad course during the social hour.

Wedding announced

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Parks, 10028 U.S. Rt. 62, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Vickie, to Tony Carter, son of Mr. C. E. Carter, 1686 Ohio Rt. 41-NE, and the late Mrs. Carter.

The marriage took place in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev.

Harold Messmer, pastor of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church officiating.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Carter are senior students at the Laurel Oaks Vocational School, Wilmington. They are residing in Washington C.H.

The New Martinsburg Women's Christian Temperance Union met in the home of Mrs. Alice Bush for a meeting and comfort knotting.

Mrs. Florence Bethards, president, conducted the business meeting and two comforts were knotted.

Devotions consisted of "Love" by Mrs. Susan Carson, and the Battle Hymn of WCTU by Mrs. Dorothy Eckle. Mrs. Ima Jean Cassell read "Faith of Fellowman."

Reports were made when it was announced that 335 bookmarks have been placed in schools and four books, 10 car stickers and 11 posters in churches. The group made 25 towel bibs for patients in the VA Hospital, Chillicothe, and 72 dozen cookies during the holidays for the VA Hospital.

The group now has six new members and four honorary (men). Cheer cards for the ill and shutins were signed. Many sick calls were made and cards were reported sent to the ill by members.

All enjoyed bean soup and cornbread around a table decorated with a Valentine motif.

The French attack and destruction of the Miami Indian village of Pickawillany on the present boundary of Shelby and Miami counties in Ohio in 1752 has been called by some historians as the opening battle of the French and Indian War. In any case, it preceded similar attacks and stepped up efforts of the French and British to secure Indian allies.

Patty Hearst trial nearing completion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the prosecution ready to rest its case, Patricia Hearst's attorneys planned to call her ex-fiance today to recount the night of the kidnaping that ultimately led to her trial for bank robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said he would wrap up his case against the 21-year-old newspaper heiress today when he resumed questioning FBI agent Thomas J. Padden, "our final witness."

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey said he would immediately begin reconstructing Miss Hearst's kidnaping by calling her former fiance, Steven Weed, to the stand.

Weed was left beaten and bleeding at their Berkeley apartment the chilly night of Feb. 4, 1974, when the Symphonie Liberation Army abducted Miss Hearst. He and the defendant have not met since the kidnaping. Miss Hearst was captured here Sept. 18.

The defense maintains that Miss Hearst took part in the bank robbery two months after her kidnaping out of fear for her life.

Browning based his case on Miss Hearst's own words and actions during her bizarre 19-month odyssey through the terrorist underground and on testimony of witnesses who saw her during that time.

The evidence he offered included bank camera photos of her during a San Francisco robbery two months after the kidnaping and a tape recording in which she proclaimed allegiance to the SLA.

Browning called 32 witnesses, including law enforcement officers, persons at the scene of the bank robbery and a Los Angeles area teen-ager who was kidnaped and spent a night with Miss Hearst and SLA members William and Emily Harris.

Bailey has secured U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter's approval to take the jury to two hideouts where Miss Hearst was kept in closets in the weeks just after her kidnaping. They also will visit the bank that Miss Hearst and the SLA robbed on April 15, 1974.

Toledo boy killed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Michael Middaugh, 14, of Toledo, was struck and killed by a city bus Wednesday night as he crossed a city street, police said.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — Television abounds with forgettable music awards shows, but there's a truly unique one coming up this weekend on public TV that you'll enjoy. We say it's unique because:

—John Denver doesn't appear on it. —It salutes only jazz artists, specifically some past and present winners of the annual Down Beat magazine reader's poll awards. It's co-hosted by composer-musicians Quincy Jones and Chick Corea.

Its title, "Down Beat — The 1975 Reader's Poll Awards," is a bit misleading if you're expecting another awards show featuring lots of plaques, speeches and renditions of played-to-death hits.

It's not that at all. True, six of the 10 featured musicians are winners of last year's Down Beat awards. But no plaques are awarded, no speeches are made and the full list of award winners doesn't appear until the end of the show, popping up along with the credits.

Most of the hour is spent on just playing good jazz, with brief introductory remarks by the co-hosts.

There is some ensemble work, but all the featured artists get individual turns before the camera. And what musicians — trumpeter Freddie Hubbard, trombonist Bill Watrous, flutist Hubert Laws and guitarist George Benson, to name a few.

The sound reproduction, which commercial TV rarely gets right, is uniformly excellent. It even makes Hubbard's trumpet work — and trumpet solos usually sound thin and tiny on those wee TV speakers — come out as pleasant and mellow as on his albums.

The show is produced by station WTTW in Chicago. Down Beat should give the producers an award simply for showing they care enough about jazz to give the ears of viewers the very best.

CBS tonight is opening a new series called "Sara," but we fear it is not the very best, despite the fine acting of Brenda Vaccaro in the title role.

Sara is a Philadelphia-born schoolmarm who comes to Colorado in 1870 to teach the sons and daughters of the pioneers reading, writing and all that in a one-room schoolhouse just outside of town.

Perhaps young members of the family will enjoy it. But we suspect grown-ups will be looking elsewhere for dramatic sustenance.

Belle Aire students portray Lincoln at colorful program

The student body of Belle Aire Elementary School presented a colorful program Thursday night at the Washington C. H. Middle School which depicted the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Entitled "Lincoln — A Man for the Ages," the presentation combined, under the direction of Mrs. Gene Hughes, the musical and dramatic talents of the students. Through song, narration, and pantomime the students traced the life of the 16th President from his boyhood in Illinois to his death in Washington, D. C. from an assassin's bullet.

After a short narration, each grade presented a scene from Lincoln's life while classmates sang several patriotic selections.

The scenes included young Abe and his father, a sketch of the youth in school, Lincoln's wrestling match, the Lincoln-Douglas debates, and President Lincoln during the Civil War. Selections presented by the Belle Aire Elementary School Choir highlighted the hour-long program which attracted a full house in the Middle School auditorium. A back drop of Lincoln's portrait on a red, white and blue background as well as color slides of Washington D. C. and the Lincoln Memorial added to the visual effect.

At the conclusion of the program, the students presented Mrs. Hughes with bouquet of roses for her efforts directing the performance, and Mrs. Hughes thanked accompanist Mrs. Ralph Yerian and the Belle Aire Elementary School faculty for their assistance.

Otterbein College founded by the United Brethren Church, and Oberlin College founded by Congregationalists in 1833, had several things in common. Both Ohio schools were centers of antislavery feeling and they were the first coed colleges in the world.

Unneeded abortions seen after spray adhesive ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — A short-lived ban on spray adhesives by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission frightened many pregnant women and led at least eight women across the country to have unnecessary abortions, a new study says.

The ban on the products was lifted six months after it was imposed in 1973, but the study by a New York State researcher says some doctors were flooded with calls from pregnant women worried about possible birth defects due to the product.

The commission banned spray adhesives in August 1973 because an Oklahoma researcher said two deformed babies and their parents had genetic damage that might be linked to the adhesives.

In January 1974, the commission reversed its position, saying there is no evidence the product causes birth defects or genetic damage.

Dr. Ernest B. Hook, a section chief in the New York State Birth Defects Institute, surveyed genetic specialists and medical centers across the country to determine the effect of the initial ban of the adhesives.

The safety commission urged pregnant women to contact their doctors or genetic specialists immediately after it announced the ban on the products.

But Robert M. Hehir, director of biomedical science for the commission, said the agency did not encourage any woman to have an abortion.

"It's very clear that the commission never advocated abortion," he said in an interview. "Clinical abortion was not exactly the thing that anyone should go out and do."

Apparently, the commission ban and public statements urging pregnant women to see their doctors worked, according to Hook's study.

Retarded flee fire

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Nine residents of a training center for the mentally retarded were forced to flee when fire destroyed their dormitory late Thursday night.

Firemen said residents at the Ottawa Valley Center for the Mentally Retarded and Developmentally Disabled evacuated the home shortly before 11 p.m. after smoke detectors in the building were triggered.

No one was injured, according to officials of the center, which is located on the south edge of Lima.

Some residents reported seeing smoke seeping from electrical outlets as they left the dormitory, but authorities have not yet determined the fire's cause.

LOOKING FOR AN OPENING — Miami Trace's Freda Swaney looks for an open teammate in Thursday's non-league contest against Westfall. The Panther girls won the varsity game, 33-27.

Circleville set to corral 2nd straight SCOL cage crown

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Circleville can wrap up the South Central Ohio League basketball title tonight with a win over Madison Plains or a loss by Washington C. H. The Blue Lions pay Hillsboro a visit.

Miami Trace which is now officially out of the running takes on winless Unioto and Wilmington will visit Greenfield McClain.

MADISON PLAINS AT CIRCLEVILLE
Although some have come close, the Golden Eagles have been the only team to beat Circleville this year.

The Tigers have been pulling out some tight ball games lately. After edging Miami trace last Saturday, they went into three overtimes to beat Hillsboro Tuesday.

With two SCOL games remaining, Circleville needs to win just one to take its second undisputed league title in a row. Tonight's contest would appear to be the easy one for the Tigers, because a loss could make next Friday's game at Washington C. H. a title determining contest.

Madison Plains first win over the

| | League | Overall |
|------------------|--------|---------|
| Circleville | 11-1 | 14-1 |
| Washington C. H. | 9-3 | 11-4 |
| Miami Trace | 7-5 | 7-9 |
| Madison Plains | 6-5 | 9-6 |
| Wilmington | 6-6 | 7-8 |
| Greenfield | 5-7 | 8-8 |
| Hillsboro | 3-8 | 6-8 |
| Unioto | 0-12 | 0-15 |

Tigers was at home where the Golden Eagles have been extremely tough losing only once this season. However, tonight's game is at Circleville, and the Golden Eagles have been having problems on the road.

WASHINGTON C.H. AT HILLSBORO
The Indians have been playing fine basketball lately, which is evident by recent two-point losses to both Miami Trace and Circleville.

The Blue Lions, who will be without guard Chuck Byrd due to academic reasons, still have a shot at a tie for the SCOL title. They need a win, and wins have been coming easily lately.

Hillsboro has a potent-scoring frontline with two of the league's top scorers in Tim Fuller and Rick Seeling, but Washington C. H. has a strong frontline of its own.

It all appears to add up to a slim Blue Lion victory.

MIAMI TRACE AT UNIOTO

The Panthers will be without seniors Allan Conner and Gary English again tonight, but this time they won't be needed. The Shermans are not likely to break out of their 15-game losing streak on the Panthers' homecourt.

Unioto has been putting more points on the scoreboard recently, and the Shermans will need plenty tonight.

It looks to be a Miami Trace walk-away.

WILMINGTON AT GREENFIELD
Both teams, which were early league contenders, have fallen on hard times of late. They both now own losing records.

Despite the mediocre season marks, the teams are evenly matched promising a tight and exciting game.

MAC leaders still undefeated

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo tries Saturday night what 19 others have failed at this season, beat Western Michigan on the basketball floor.

If the Rockets are to succeed in upsetting the nation's 15th ranked power, Toledo must hold its own in rebounding.

"That's where the great discrepancy between the two teams is. There isn't a great deal of difference otherwise. We've got to come up with a tremendous rebounding effort," said Toledo Coach Bob Nichols.

Western Michigan, 10-0 in the MAC, needs a second victory over the Rockets this season to keep its sole Mid-American Conference lead. Miami, one game back at 9-1, plays at lastplace Northern Illinois Saturday afternoon.

In other MAC games Saturday, Ball State (3-7) plays at Kent State (5-4) and Central Michigan (4-6) at Eastern Michigan (1-9) in the afternoon and Ohio University (5-4) at Bowling Green (4-6) at night.

Nichols concedes an 87-86 double overtime loss, settled on a technical foul with three seconds left, damaged his players mentally as well as dropping the Rockets three games off the pace.

"I'm sure our players will bounce back. The first time against Miami we lost a 19-point lead, then played very well at Western Michigan," he recalled.

The Rockets still lost 78-73 to the Broncos. "They came up with the key plays when they needed them," said the Toledo coach.

So why is Western Michigan off to the best start in the history of MAC basketball?

"They do a real good job of not beating themselves. They're very solid. They play good defense. They take only good shots. And four of them have played together four years," replied Nichols.

Western Michigan, winning with splendid balance, will be bidding for its ninth straight road victory over conference opposition. On the other hand, Toledo has not lost in seven home appearances this season.

Miami is expected to keep pace in the MAC race at Northern Illinois, suddenly revived after its winning its first conference game 79-77 at Ball State Wednesday night.

The Huskies also have the conference's No. 1 scorer, Matt Hicks, back in the lineup. Hicks sat out the team's loss at Ohio University last week. The 6-foot-4 star is averaging more than 24 points.

Elsewhere on the Ohio college scene Saturday, crippled Ohio State shoots for revenge at Purdue in the Big Ten. The Boilermakers beat the Buckeyes 84-80 earlier in Columbus.

Ohio State will be playing without its 6-10 center, Craig Taylor, hospitalized with back spasms. Rick Smith, a 6-6 freshman, will take Taylor's place.

In major independent activity, 13th-ranked Cincinnati (17-3) entertains St. Louis and Detroit is at Xavier (10-9). Dayton is idle.

In the Ohio Conference, Northern Division pacesetter Ohio Northern plays a nonleague game at Muskingum. The Southern Division's coleaders, Wittenberg and Otterbein, are busy in the conference, the Tigers entertaining Capital and the Otters visiting Denison.

Tiffin already has wrapped up the Mid-Ohio crown, its first conference championship ever.

Earlham can clinch the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference title by winning over visiting Bluffton. Earlham (11-1) is three games ahead of second-place Defiance (10-4) in the loss column.

Hiram, with a 9-0 record, has opened up a two-game lead over Allegheny in the Presidents' Conference. The leading Terriers play at Bethany (3-7).

Marcis, Waltrip win Daytona qualifiers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "I guess you've got two cheaters in Victory Lane," Dave Marcis quipped after he and Darrell Waltrip won a pair of 125-mile qualifying races for Sunday's $350,000 Daytona 500 stock car classic.

Those two young rising stars of National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing Grand National racing were set down for rules violations after posting some of the fastest times in pole position qualifying last Sunday.

Officials ruled that the cars of Marcis, Waltrip, A.J. Foyt and Bruce Hill were speeded up by "non-approved" equipment. They had to make changes, requalify and start back in the pack for the 125-milers Thursday.

"It didn't hurt Dave and me much as it turned out," Waltrip said. "We just lost a position or two for Sunday. Justice will prevail, and I guess it did."

Foyt, whose Chevrolet developed mechanical trouble and lasted only nine laps, will start in 31st place. As fastest on Sunday, at 187.47 miles per hour, he would have been on the pole and $5,000 richer if his speed had not been disallowed.

Hill's Chevrolet made only four laps in the qualifier and he'll start 33rd.

The Marcis Dodge and Waltrip Chevrolet will start in the second row behind new faces Ramo Stott and Terry Ryan in a pair of Chevrolets. Stott and Ryan, whose cars were legal, inherited the inside and outside pole because of the three disallowed speeds.

Stott's car malfunctioned at the start of the first 125-miler and made only 35 of the 50 laps. Ryan was competitive and finished third behind Waltrip and Richard Petty's Dodge in the second qualifying event.

Speed Weeks attention turned today to the windup of the International Race of Champions series with Foyt favored to take the $50,000 winner's prize. After three previous races in Michigan and California, Foyt leads the nine top drivers chosen from Formula 1, NASCAR and Indianapolis type cars.

Foyt, with 31 points, needed only to finish sixth or better to win the series. Bobby Allison with 25 points and Mario Andretti with 23 are the only ones who could beat him.

A 200-mile race around the 3.84-mile road course for NASCAR modified stock cars also was on today's program. A 300-mile event for NASCAR Late Model Sportsman stock cars will be run Saturday as a buildup for Sunday's richest stock car race ever run.

A favorable weather forecast is expected to draw more than 110,000 for Sunday's events. Nearly 60,000 were on hand for Thursday's qualifying races.

Hillsboro downs Middle Schoolers

Hillsboro took two basketball contests from the Washington C. H. Middle School teams Thursday.

The junior Indians won the eighth grade game, 57-41, and the seventh grade contest, 52-33.

Tom Shields paced the Middle School eighth graders in the loss with 14 points. Clark Lee and John Belles scored eight and seven points respectively.

Herbie Carson tossed in 18 points in the seventh grade game and Jerry Mount added seven.

Washington C. H.'s next game is slated for Thursday at Circleville.

Ricky Bell of Southern Cal averaged 5.3 yards per carry in gaining 1,875 yards during the 1975 college football season.

Frosh tourney, wrestling on tap at Trace

Miami Trace High School will have a busy sports schedule Saturday.

The South Central Ohio League freshmen tournament will begin at noon Saturday in the Panther gymnasium.

Seven of the league's eight schools are entered in the tournament. Unioto has decided not to participate.

The host Panthers will take on Greenfield McClain to open the tournament's first round. Washington C. H. and Madison Plains will meet in the second game Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Hillsboro and Circleville are slated to meet in a 3 p.m. contest.

Top-seeded Wilmington drew the first-round bye.

The tournament's second round will be played Tuesday at 5 p.m. and the consolation and final round is slated for 5 p.m. Thursday.

Also on Saturday, the Panther wrestling team will travel to Chillicothe for a triple-dual meet. Miami Trace will wrestle teams from Athens, Chillicothe and Ironton.

The first dual match is slated for noon with the second scheduled for 2 p.m. and the final at 6 p.m.

Panther girls top Westfall

The Miami Trace girls varsity broke a 22-22 tie going into the final period and breezed to a 33-27 win over Westfall Thursday night.

Debbie Eddlemon led the Panthers with 10 points while Sally Gaylord and Freda Swaney added eight points apiece.

The Miami Trace reserve team didn't fare as well as the varsity. A Westfall freethrow in the final three seconds gave Miami Trace a 14-13 loss.

Miami Trace visits Washington C.H. in the girls next game which is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 23.

J.C. Snead leads San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "You might say," observed broadly-grinning J.C. Snead, "it was a matter of luck."

The luck — which led to a seven-under-par 65 and the first-round lead in the $180,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament — made its appearance moments after Snead plucked a four-leaf clover out of the soggy turf and stuck it in his pocket.

"Now," cautioned the mockserious Snead, "it ain't that I'm superstitious or anything like that. But if I keep it in my pocket I might lose it. I think I'll eat it. That way it can't get away."

Immediately after finding the lucky clover Thursday, Snead saved par from a terrible lie in the bunker — "I had no shot at all; I was looking at six," he said — missed by a scant inch of holing another sand shot on the next hole and then dropped a 148-yard eight iron shot for an eagle two on the next hole.

"That's the first time I've ever holed out a full shot on the tour," he said, grinned again and added: "Luck."

The group at 67 included Hale Irwin, Bob Dickson, Mike Morley and Tom Kite.

Morley, Kite and Dickson played the tougher, 7,047-yard north course at the Torrey Pines Country Club. The rest of the leaders were at the 6,667-yard south course. The players shift courses for the second round, then play the final two rounds exclusively on the south.

Scorers were exceptionally low in the bright sunshine that brought relief from a week-long storm. The courses, deluged with more than five inches of rain in the last seven days, were still wet and heavy and dotted with puddles of casual water, however, and players were allowed to lift, clean and place the ball in the fairway.

"I'd say it's worth at least two shots a round, being able to get your hands on it and run with it," Snead said.

But Lee Trevino had to work hard for a 71, Billy Casper shot 72 and British Open champ Tom Watson could do no better than 70.

Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller are not competing.

Bruins bomb Washington State

UCLA 'starting to peak'

By The Associated Press

Here's bad — and familiar — news for seven teams in the Pacific-8: "We're starting to peak," said Gene Bartow.

George Raveling said, "The people who have been criticizing Gene Bartow and the Bruins are going to have to eat crow when the season is done."

Raveling had just watched Bartow's UCLA Bruins dismantle his Washington State basketball team 104-78 Thursday night, and he was duly impressed.

So was Bartow, who frequently this season has shown displeasure with the play of his sixth-ranked Bruins, who upped their record to 18-3.

"We played our best 10 minutes of the year in the first half," Bartow said after the Bruins had built their conference-leading mark to 7-1.

Marques Johnson, who scored 19 points to lead the Bruins against Washington State, echoed his coach's comments.

"Since the Notre Dame and USC games we've played very well," Johnson remarked, "and I knew it would come."

The Bruins used a balanced scoring attack to whip the Cougars, with Andre McCarter chipping in 13 points, and Richard Washington and Gavin Smith 12 each.

The ninth-ranked Washington Huskies, who meet the Bruins in Pauley Pavilion Saturday afternoon, lurk just a game back of UCLA in the Pac-8 standings, and have an impressive 19-2 record in all games.

Thursday night, Washington bombed hapless Southern Cal, which has yet to win a conference game, 93-75.

Seven-foot center James Edwards poured in 20 points to spark the Washington victory, and teammates Kim Stewart and Ken Lombard added 15 points each.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Al Weston and Joe Whelton combined for 50 points to lead the University of Connecticut to an 86-79 victory over Lafayette in the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. In the second game, South Carolina whipped Fordham 75-65 as Jackie Gilloon keyed an 11-point run at the start of the second half.

Ken Harris scored the winning three-point play with 26 seconds remaining, and Drake snapped a seven-game losing streak by defeating Bradley 96-94 in Missouri Valley Conference action.

Edmond Lawrence scored six of his 19 points in the second overtime period to give McNeese State an 87-78 Southland Conference victory over Arkansas State.

Mike Glenn scored 19 points to lead Southern Illinois to a 66-57 Missouri Valley Conference victory over West Texas State. The victory tied SIU for the MVC lead with Wichita State.

Reds to swing another deal?

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Sparky Anderson says the World Champion Cincinnati Reds will probably swing at least one more trade before the season starts, but adds "we're not going to give up any front line players."

The Reds have mainly moved to bolster their bench, acquiring veterans Bob Bailey from Montreal and Mike Lum from Atlanta.

"I would think something else will happen," said Anderson, who directed the Reds to a club record 108 victories in 1975 and a stunning 20-game division margin.

"I don't speak for Bob Howsam (Reds president and general manager), but it doesn't look like anything major. He's made up his mind that he finally has what he's built for and wants to go with it for a while."

Cincinnati gave up veteran relief pitcher Clay Carroll, sometimes starter Clay Kirby and reserve infielder Darrel Chaney in off-season deals.

Anderson said the trades "give us without a doubt the best bench we've ever had. Our front line is the best eight men in either league."

"I think now our bench is as good as anybody has in baseball and that's the thing over the years we never had. We went from such a dropoff from our first eight our bench. Now we're on an even keel."

He said 33-year-old Bailey, who will be entering his 15th big league season, is "the one that's really going to help us. We needed that one righthanded power hitter on the bench. And a guy also that when we want to give Cesar Geronimo a breather we can move George Foster to center field and put Bailey in left."

"I kind of like my chops a little bit when I think of Johnny Bench, Tony Perez, Bailey and Foster — four guys in a row — against lefthanders. Every one of them are capable of reaching the fence and they're all good hitters. I don't think lefthanders are going to enjoy too much success against us," said Anderson.

Five ink pacts with Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — The World Champion Cincinnati Reds reported that five players have signed 1976 contracts.

Three of the signers were players who came to the in trades over the winter.

They are: Bob Bailey, an outfielder obtained from the Montreal Expos, expected to be used as a right hand pinch hitter. Bailey, 33, hit .270 with five home runs and 30 runs batted in in 36 games last season.

Mike Lum, 30, a left hand hitter who had a .228 average with eight homers and 36 RBIs last season for Atlanta. He came from the Braves in the trade for infielder Darrel Chaney.

Rookie Jeff Gove, 24, came to Cincinnati from the Chicago White Sox Denver farm team for relief hurler Clay Carroll. Gove hit .293 with 17 homers and 65 RBIs in the minors.

Veterans signed Thursday were Jack Billingham, 32, who slipped to a 15-10 record last season after winning 19 games in the previous two, and Merv Rettenmund, who hit .229 as a pinch hitter and outfielder.

Red Viking wins

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Red Viking claimed its first victory in four starts this year with a half-length triumph in the featured conditioned pace at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night.

THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF A FINE OLDER HOME!

The Bicentennial year is upon us and home buying people have become aware of our heritage and there has been a trend to buying older homes. There are advantages too, especially when it's the home that we are offering today, that is located in one of the prime locations in Washington, has all the features of a new home with updated wiring, wall to wall carpeting, new tasteful decorating inside and out but still remaining is the traditional oak woodwork, trim and doors that gives that warm and authentic appearance. But best of all is the spaciousness this home offers with its four bedrooms, living room, formal dining room, family room, kitchen and 1 1/2 baths. The little extras such as the large walk-in closets, the front and rear stairway, the fireplace, entrance foyer, the dry basement makes this house a home that you and your family will enjoy for years to come and yet it's priced at only $42,500.00.

Treating the Irritable Colon

Are any special foods the cause of spastic colitis?

Miss R. M., Ohio

Dear Miss M.:

I must assume that the diagnosis of spastic colitis was made by your doctor rather than by you or a friend.

Far too often, the term "spastic colon" is a self-diagnosis that has no validity. It is applied by many people to any form of abdominal distress or to other intestinal complaints.

Spastic colitis (mucous colitis) is a specific disorder of the large intestine. Sometimes, it is referred to as an "irritable" colon. This condition frequently occurs in people who are highly tense and anxious.

Dr. Alexander Richman, of New York City, an authority on diseases of the gastro-intestinal tract, believes that both emotional factors and physical factors induce and maintain long-lasting symptoms of spastic colitis.

Poor bowel habits, lack of moderation in the use of alcohol and tobacco, and dietary indiscretions are the major physical causes of spastic colitis.

Chronic fatigue or the abuse of laxatives and enemas may also play a role in the establishment of this disorder.

Generally, a bland diet is beneficial. Raw vegetables and raw fruits should usually be avoided. Milk, nuts and chocolate may produce symptoms. Special diets should be prepared for each individual. Close coordination between the patient and the doctor can, by trial and error, establish the ideal diet to free the patient of the symptoms of "irritable" colon and help return the colon to normal health.

I have a large hole in the wall between both sides of my nose. My doctor does not want to try to fix it. Could there be a special reason that he is not telling me about?

Mr. T. T., Wash.

Dear Mr. T.:

The nasal septum is the wall that separates one side of the nose from the other. Sometimes, following surgery, the perforation of this septum occurs.

Perforations can also be due to other reasons. Chronic nose-picking can cause ulceration and then perforation.

Unfortunately, surgery for the repair of a perforated septum has not been generally successful. A number of plastic repairs have been tried, but with only moderate success.

It may be that your doctor believes that the chances are small that your particular problem would be solved by an operation.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism - A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Test Your Dummy Play

1. You are declarer at Six Diamonds and North leads the jack of clubs. You win with the queen and lead a trump to the ace, South discarding a heart. How would you play the hand?

8 AQ52
AQ 109
J1098542 107
AKQ A763

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts, North having bid one diamond, South two diamonds, and you four hearts. North leads the K-A of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

AJ5 10964
AKJ10962 108
7 9632
K4 853

1. It looks as though you must choose whether to take a spade or a heart finesse — both even money shots — but actually your chances are much better than that.

Cash the ace of spades at trick three, ruff a spade, then play the A-K of clubs. If North follows suit or discards, you put him on lead with a trump.

If he now returns the king of spades or a heart, you're out of the wood, so let's say he returns a low spade. You hopefully play the queen from dummy, but even if South shows up with the king you still have a heart finesse to fall back on.

The effect of this method of play is that you make the slam if North has the king of spades or if South has the king of hearts — roughly a 3 to 1 shot in your favor. This obviously gives you a better chance than simply relying on one finesse or the other.

2. You'd like to take two spade finesses and also play a club to the king, hoping to find South with the ace of clubs and a spade honor. But there are only two entries to dummy and you want to lead from dummy three times.

To give yourself the best chance, ruff the diamond and play a heart to the eight. Then try the first finesse — a low spade to the jack. Assuming it loses to an honor and a diamond comes back, ruff it and play a heart to the queen.

Now lead the ten of spades and finesse again. If this succeeds, you are still in dummy and can play a club to the king. If the cards are favorably placed, you make the contract. It is essential to lead a low spade, not the ten, the first time you are in dummy.

Doonesbury strip blank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Readers of two Ohio newspapers will have to wait until Monday to follow the cartoon strip "Doonesbury," which has been dropped until an episode dealing with homosexuality is concluded. "The subject matter is inappropriate," said Charles Egger, editor of the Columbus Citizen-Journal. "The comic page is to entertain. Doonesbury deals in political satire and there is too much social content."

Thomas L. Boardman, editor of the Cleveland Press, said, "The subject of homosexuality is one of the most important issues facing our society today and it deserves treatment. We are not shying away from it but we do not believe that it is proper for the comic page."

Both newspapers reported receiving a flood of reader reaction by mail and telephone. Both offered copies of the deleted comic strip to readers. The Citizen-Journal reported nearly 2,000 copies of the omitted panels had been picked up by readers at its public service desk by Thursday night. The Press said more than 3,500 copies of the strips were given or mailed to requesting readers.

Mahoney to start new real estate firm here

Realtor Bart Mahoney has left the firm of F.J. Weade and Associates to begin an independent real estate agency in Washington C.H.

Having had his license transferred from the corporate holding to his own name and after having received his broker's office, Mahoney will conduct business from his home at 724 Yeoman Street while seeking suitable office space. His wife Dorothy will assist by taking calls in his absence.

Mahoney said his association with Weade, Inc., has been excellent and the decision to leave was difficult. He added that his personal relationship with Frank Weade has been very close, but he felt the need to try his own agency.

A son Danny, who lives at home, is currently enrolled at Franklin University, Columbus, preparing to obtain a real estate salesman's license. The younger Mahoney plans to join his father who is a certified broker as soon as possible.

The Mahoneys have two other children, both of whom are married. Bart Jr., resides in Columbus, and their daughter, Mrs. Randy (Paddy) Lisk, lives in Lexington, Ky.

A member of the Fayette County Board of Realtors, Mahoney has been a Washington C.H. resident for the past 22 years. He served on the board's executive committee last year and is a member of the national and Ohio associations of real estate boards.

Mahoney said he has thoroughly enjoyed the friendships created during his association with Wead and hopes to continue serving some of his former clients in the future.

He has held a real estate salesman's license since 1964 and joined Weade in 1971. Prior to that time he was employed as an explosives salesman and technical advisor for 17 years.

Active in civic affairs, Mahoney is president of the Fayette County Cancer Society, and a member of the Washington C.H. Lions Club, the American Legion, the Elks Lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Name assistant lottery chief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Evelyn M. Schrenk has succeeded James Dickerson as deputy director of the Ohio Lottery.

Mrs. Schrenk, who was approved for the post Thursday by the Ohio Lottery Commission, is a member of the Cleveland Civil Service Commission and a former vice chairman of the Cuyahoga County Republican Party.

Dickerson resigned last September to unsuccessfully run in the Cleveland mayoral primary.

Lottery Executive Director Gerald J. Patronite said Mrs. Schrenk probably

Southern bill found on Lincoln

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham Lincoln was carrying a Confederate $5 bill the night he was shot at Ford's Theater, but no one knows why.

The contents of his pockets that night were disclosed Thursday during ceremonies marking the 167th anniversary of his birth.

Librarian of Congress Daniel J. Boorstin suggested tongue-in-cheek that perhaps the martyred president was carrying it "as insurance in case the war went the other way."

President Ford laid a wreath at the Lincoln Memorial before a crowd of about 300. He said Lincoln "saw the political system created by the Constitution as a definitive answer to the ancient debate about the ability of man to govern himself in freedom."

Ford said the nation honors Lincoln "for the force of his faith in America and in the people" at a time when the worth of the federal government is being questioned.

The $5 Confederate bill, issued in Richmond, Va., on Feb. 17, 1864, was among a collection of items which an unknown person removed from Lincoln's pockets after he was shot at the theater on the night of April 14, 1865. He died the following morning.
